USINESS MEN MAY ASSIST IN ITY PROBLEMS

eal Estate Board To Discuss Proposal at Meeting Wednesday Night

COPY YOUNGSTOWN PLAN

ity Officials Expected To Indorse Move When It Is Presented to Council

Discussion of municipal finances, ich may lead to inauguration of a operative plan whereby local busiss men's organizations will assist officials in solving their problems the future, will take place at a eting of the Marion Real Estate ard, to be held at Hotel Harding, ednesday night.

City Treasurer Asa Queen, who reently made public figures showing that re is utmost need of economy in nicipal management in order that penses may not exceed the amount revenue to be received this year, s to present at Wednesday night's eting and outline the situation in de-

Although no definite information has n given out regarding probable velopments at this meeting, it is ted that plans are being formulated the appointment of a committee rep-senting the Marion Real Estate ard and other local bodies of busi-ss men to give close attention to ters of municipal management and ances.

Similar Plan

The plan proposed is similar to one ich has met with a decided measure success in Youngstown. In that city committee of business men functions close cooperation with municipal offi-ls, acting in an advisory capacity in y management, especially in connec-n with financing.

As a result, city affairs in Youngs-wn, which were badly disrupted a mber of years ago, have been roughly systematized with all con-ns threatening treasury deficits com-ely eliminated.

Whether the plan will be equally ef-tive here depends upon the attitude local city officials. If they are will-to accept the counsel and assistance the business men's committee there likelihood that the system will be ctioning here in the near future, it s indicated today.

Expect Approval

It is regarded as practically certain t local officials will readily agree to proposal. The matter was touched on at a City Council meeting several eks ago when J. W. Jacoby, spokes-n for the real estate board, was dis-sing the ward redistricting plan, and ncilmen then indicated that they ld welcome cooperation from busi-ss men's organizations.

The discussion of finances scheduled for uesday night is expected to be along same line as that which took place ently at a conference between city ials and representatives of the West ter Street Improvement Association, that time Treasurer Queen presented ts and figures showing why condition municipal finances would prevent the ing of W. Center-st at this year. He ued the amount of bonds and in-st falling due this year will be $40,-0 in excess of the amount of money e received for the sinking fun. This necessitate deducting $40,000 from city's operating funds to pay the 1927 debt bill.

USES DYNAMITE TO TAKE LIFE

Peabody, Mass., Feb. 14—Blowing himself up with a charge of dynamite, that shook the earth for miles around and shattered scores of windows, William H. Vanderbilt, 60, an explosive expert, committed suicide here today.

The suicide theory was declared a certainty by police when they learned that Vanderbilt was to have appeared in Salem court today, defendant in a civil suit.

The terrific blast shook nearby homes and police and fire headquarters were deluged with calls from frightened persons.

FORMER MARION WOMAN DROWNS SELF IN CREEK

Mrs. Nannie Williams, 31, Takes Life Near Portsmouth, Friends Here Learn

Mrs. Nannie Williams, 31, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Williams, 1605 High-st, Portsmouth, former residents of Marion committed suicide by jumping in Pond Creek, near that city early yesterday morning, according to word received here today by friends. The body was found by searchers and identified by a brother Jess Williams, and a brother-in-law, Arthur Boren, members of the party, shortly after 7 o'clock. Relatives state they can give no reason for the act. The young woman was clothed only in her nightgown and house slippers and an old cloak.

Mrs. Williams drove to the creek in an automobile belonging to herself and a sister, Mary, which she left standing on the road. The car, and one slipper found in a field near the creek were the clues which led the searchers to the scene where the body was found floating on top of the water. Mrs. Williams, mother of the young woman, heard the car leaving the garage about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning but was not concerned, thinking it was a neighbor going to work. Mrs. Williams was missed first by her sister, Miss Mary Williams, who occupied a room with her, when she awoke about 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. Williams has been employed for some time in the Shelby Shoe factory. The family left Marion a number of years ago.

HALTERMAN WILL TAKE STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

Trial of Man Charged with Double Murder Under Way at Washington C. H.

Washington C. H., Feb. 14—Leo Halterman, 26, who went on trial here today for the murder of his half brother, Charles Halterman, farmer near Jeffersonville, and the latter's wife Carrie, will take the stand in his own defense, it was declared by his attorneys.

A venire of 75, of whom 35 are women, has been impaneled and attorneys this morning were questioning the prospective jurors who are to decide the fate of the man who confessed to killing his half-brother and his wife, two days before Christmas.

Both self-defense and insanity are expected to be the chief arguments to be employed by defense attorneys, while the prosecution hopes to show that the murder was premeditated and the result of ill feeling between the half brothers. Leo Halterman was estranged from his wife, and on several occasions, it is said, had been upbraided by his half-brother for being a father unfit to care for his two-year-old twin sons.

Mrs. Elizabeth Halterman Wellston, mother of the accused man was seated beside her son when the trial opened, but his wife residing at Chillicothe, had not arrived.

NUN FATALLY HURT

Mother Mary Regina in Auto Accident at Brandt

Dayton, Feb. 14 — The body of Mother Mary Regina, 61, Sister of Mercy, today was taken to Cincinnati following her death here Sunday after an automobile accident at Brandt, near here.

Three others riding with Sister Regina from London to Hamilton, were injured:

They are: Mary Kurwan, 19, nurse at Mercy Hospital, Hamilton, Bert Kamm, 19, Hamilton, and Mother Bernardine, 43, sister of Mercy, Hamilton. Miss Kurwan sustained a broken collarbone. The others were only slightly injured.

The accident occurred when the auto driven by Kamm, skidded on the slippery pavement on a curve and swerved down an embankment.

SHEPHERD ACCUSED

Formally Charged With Causing Deaths of Three McClintocks

Chicago, Feb. 14—William D. Shepherd today was formally accused of causing the deaths of William Nelson McClintock, his foster son, and of Mrs. Emma Catherine McClintock, mother of the millionaire, in a bill of complaint filed in court by counsel for eight of contestants of the $1,000,000 will.

The bill stated that Shepherd, who was tried and acquitted for the death of McClintock, brought about the two deaths "for the purpose of enabling the defendant to secure the property of William Nelson McClintock."

Other officials of the Erie well-known in Marion, who are not mentioned in the list of appointments, will remain in their present positions.

OHIO SENATE WILL ACT ON TIME BILL TONIGHT

Limit for Introduction of Measures Will Expire Next Monday

Columbus, Feb. 14—With approximately 250 or 300 bills and resolutions scheduled to be introduced in the senate and house during the coming week, Ohio legislators today faced a busy week.

The senate and house will reconvene, after the week-end recess, at 7 o'clock tonight.

The time limit for introduction of measures expires next Monday. After that date, no bill, or resolution, can be introduced in either the senate or house, without the affirmative vote of three-fifths of the entire membership of the legislative branch in which the measure is proposed.

Today's calendar calls for action by the senate tonight on the question of passing the house bill, by Abele, establishing eastern standard time as the official time throughout Ohio; the house bill, by Simmers, exempting newspapermen, dentists and registered pharmacists from jury service; the Collister bill, providing for supervision and regulation of motor transportation, and the house bill, by Hadden, providing for chief justices of common pleas courts.

YOUTHS HURT

Pair Pinned Beneath Car Upset Rounding Curve Near Meeker

Two youths suffered a lacerated knee and wrenched back respectively when the car in which they were riding with two other youths skidded and upset while rounding a curve two and one-half miles east of Meeker late yesterday afternoon. They were pinned beneath the car and were not released until passing motorists assisted the uninjured youths in righting the vehicle. The injured youths were given emergency treatment at the office of Dr. F. F. Fields, Meeker, after which they continued on their way to their homes in Lima.

BLIZZARD TOLL 125

Cold Wave and Landslides Costly in Northern Japan

Tokio, Feb. 14—The death toll from blizzards and landslides in northern Japan had reached the approximate figure of 125 today. The prefecture of Niigata suffered the most casualties, ninety-one have been killed in that community. Several villages were destroyed by the huge snowslides.

Although the blizzards were continuing today, all trains held by the slides have now been released, according to word received here.

SEEK YEGGMEN

Millersburg, Feb. 14—Police today are searching for yeggmen who blew up three safes here over the week-end and escaped with $500 in cash and several thousand dollars worth of negotiable bonds.

The robberies occurred in offices of building supply companies.

SUBPENA WITNESSES

Washington, Feb. 14—The four witnesses cited for contempt by the Reed campaign fund committee for their refusal to answer questions during the recent investigation of Illinois and Pennsylvania primaries, will be subpenaed to appear before the committee next Monday.

MODERN LOVER TOO BUSY TO MAKE HIS OWN

Swains of a century or more ago used to laboriously compose verses which they penned in gold ink on delicately tinted paper and sent to their sweethearts on St. Valentine Day. Now stationers' stores display hundreds of these missives with every conceivable sentiment for the modern lover who is too busy to compose his own poetry. Cruel comic valentines are no longer popular. Reproductions of the lacy kind in vogue a generation ago have been among the most costly on display this year. Above is a valentine of the type popular today and, upper right, a lacy missive such as our great-grandparents used to send.

QUESTION NEGRO ABOUT DISCOVERY OF SKULLS

Note, Said To Have Been Written to Sister, Strengthens Evidence, Claim

Pontiac, Mich., Feb. 14—Prosecutor Clyde D. Underwood, of Oakland County, and Police Chief George W. Smith, of Ferndale, left for Michigan City, Ind., today to question James 18 Coyner, a negro, about the discovery of four skulls in an abandoned house in a Royal Oak Township home.

"Get my trunk. They might find something else and if they do I'm through forever."

This note from Coyner, who is serving a sentence in prison at Michigan City for grave robbing, prompted officers to go to the Indiana city.

The note is said to have been written to Coyner's sister in Chicago.

Until nine months ago Coyner lived in the house in which the trunk and its contents were discovered.

Coyner urged his sister, Emma Robinson, to come to Detroit and remove his trunk from the house. In the note he also asked her to smuggle a hacksaw to him in the prison that he might escape before authorities made the discovery. His sister is believed to have communicated with friends here to enlist their aid but without success.

NEW SPRING OFFENSIVE SEEN ALONG YANGTSE

Marshal Chang Begins Movement of 50,000 Troops Across Yellow River

Peking, Feb. 14—With hundreds of thousands of troops on the move a general spring offensive in the region of the Yangtse River is in prospect.

Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, war lord governor of Manchuria and the actual power behind the Peking government, convinced of the inability of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu to prosecute an active campaign against the Cantonese forces at Hankow, today began the movement of 50,000 of his Feng-Tien troops across the Yellow River to occupy Chenchow. This city is in Honan Province, the stronghold of Wu Pei-Fu, and constitutes the invasion of Honan by Chang's troops which Wu last week warned Chang would be contested by Wu's troops. Chenchow is on the direct railway line between Hankow and Peking.

Wu Pei-Fu shifted his headquarters from Chenchow to Loyang.

Following the arrival of Chang's Chihli and Shantung troops at Anhwei, just south of the Yellow River, General Chang Such-Liang will be appointed commander of the Hupeh forces, when the drive to retake Hankow from the Cantonese begins.

American military observers who have recently returned from the war zone predict that Chang Tso's drive for Hankow will succeed, but if they make efforts to win successes further south they have great difficulty owing to the low watery terrain.

AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE RECOGNIZED

Shanghai, Feb. 14—The Peking government has notified the British authorities that any agreement with the Cantonese regarding Hankow will not be recognized by the Peking government.

The Gloucester and Durham battalions arrived here from Hong Kong today. After disembarking they were marched through crowded streets, but no incidents were reported.

BELIEVE ACCIDENT WORRY CAUSE FOR SUICIDE

Union City, Feb. 14—Funeral services for Miss Alma Evans, 31, are to be held Tuesday. Miss Lady was found suspended in her room, Sunday. Worry over an automobile accident at New Palestine, a year ago, when her automobile permanently injured a child, is thought to have caused the act.

NEW GUM CHAMP

Baltimore Youth Chews 44 Sticks For National "Title"

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 14—What some people might consider the absolute zero in national championships was claimed today by Henry Williams, 19, a local boy.

Henry read in the papers where John Corbett of Chicago claimed the national gum chewing championship by masticating 44 sticks of gum at one time. His civic pride was fired.

"What a Chicagoan can do, a Baltimorean can do better," he said with gritted teeth.

Before an admiring audience Henry started. Stick after stick of gum disappeared into the place where nature had been generous to Henry, and in seven minutes he had completely chewed to a pulp 46 sticks of gum.

Henry eagerly awaited today offers from promoters and vaudeville agents.

EIGHT KILLED 30 HURT IN ENGLISH FOG CRASH

Two Passenger Trains in Collision; Six Coaches of Local Telescoped

London, Feb. 14—Eight persons were killed and at least 30 were injured today when two passenger trains collided head-on at Hull during the dense fog which has blanketed all England for four days.

The collision occurred at 9 o'clock this morning. A local incoming passenger train smashed with terrific force into an outgoing special train. Six coaches of the local train were telescoped.

Rescue parties were quickly formed and searched feverishly among the debris, recovering the bodies of the dead and rescuing the injured.

Another wreck, in which seven persons were injured, occurred at London Bridge Station, when an incoming train running blind in the fog ran into the stop bumpers.

This was the fourth consecutive day England has been fog-bound. While the fog today was lighter over many districts than it has been during the week-end, it still was heavy over the English Channel, London and Southern England.

TOLEDOAN KILLED

Machine Driven By Son-in-Law Overturns in Ditch

Bowling Green, Feb. 14—J. W. Rummell, 68, of Toledo, is dead here today, as the result of an automobile driven by his son-in-law, H. B. Koons, overturning in a ditch south of this city.

Mrs. Rummell, Mrs. Koons and their two boys escaped injury.

Six other machines went into the ditch south of here during the sleet storm without fatalities Sunday.

DRAG OHIO STREAM FOR WOMAN, MOTHER OF EIGHT

Cincinnati, Feb. 14—The Little Miami River was being dragged by firemen here today in an effort to find the body of Mrs. Mary Illige, 50, mother of eight children.

The woman was reported missing from her home yesterday morning, and today one of her sons trailed her footsteps of the river nearby, where a coat was found.

$80,000 PEARL NECKLACE IS REPORTED STOLEN

Dayton, Feb. 14—Private detectives and police today were scouring Ohio and Indiana in search of an $80,000 pearl necklace reported stolen by Mrs. Edward Hines, wife of a millionaire lumber man at Chicago. The necklace, according to Mrs. Hines, disappeared from her overnight bag, two weeks ago while she was a passenger on a sleeper enroute from Chicago to visit her daughter here.

FATHER KILLS DOCTOR WHEN CHILD SUCCUMBS

Physician Administers Antitoxin as Last Hope to Diphtheria Victim

New York, Feb. 14—Dr. Casper S. Pendola, Brooklyn physician is dead, his throat severed, his alleged slayer is in prison today charged with the killing, and six young children are fatherless, all due to a parent's ignorance of the nature of antitoxin and his failure to understand that the doctor had done his best for a dying boy.

Joseph Caruso, 6, died yesterday of diphtheria, a few hours after Dr. Pendola, who had been called too late to save the child's life, had administered antitoxin as a last hope. A few minutes after the child's death the doctor made his second call.

Frank Caruso, Brooklyn plasterer, father of Joseph, is alleged to have accused Dr. Pendola of responsibility for the child's death and then killed the doctor by cutting his throat with a butcher knife.

The body of the doctor fell within a few feet of the couch on which the body of the dead child lay.

Caruso fled but was arrested a few hours later at the home of a brother.

Dr. Pendola, 27, was married and had one child. He was graduated from Fordham University, and originally came from Scranton, Pa.

IBERIA SCHOOL JANITOR FALLS DEAD IN ROAD

S. H. Frank Claimed While On Way Home After Becoming Suddenly Ill

Iberia, Feb. 14—S. H. Frank, janitor of the schools here, dropped dead this morning while on his way home after turning the care of the schools over to a neighbor. The cause of his death was yet undetermined here.

Mr. Frank had been in good health apparently and was his usual self yesterday, members of the family stated. He left home for his work at the schoolhouse at the usual time early this morning and after starting the fires felt so ill that he was unable to continue. Death overtook him as he was passing the C. C. VanAtta residence on his way home.

Those surviving are the widow, three daughters, Mrs. Theodore Gensleiter, Galion, Mrs. McCann, Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Sam McClaren Iberia, and three sons Rev. W. W. Franks, Tippecanoe Lake, George and Lester, Columbus. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

DR. IKIRT DIES

East Liverpool, Feb. 14—Dr. George P. Ikirt, who attained fame in 1890 by defeating William McKinley for congress in the Canton district, is dead at his home here. He was 74 years old and practiced medicine for more than half a century. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

TWENTY KILLED

London, Feb. 14—Twenty persons were killed and many were missing today as a result of a terrific cyclone which swept Queensland, Australia, according to a Central News Dispatch from Brisbane. The towns of Ingham, Cairns and Fairford, were reported to have been almost entirely wiped out.

UNDER $10,000 BOND

Greenville, Feb. 14—Fred Estes, oil stock salesman, today was at liberty under $10,000 bond charged with shooting to kill J. M. Crouch, 50, oil operator, during an argument Sunday noon in the lobby of the Hotel James. Crouch was not seriously injured.

STATES ON STRIKE

Portland, Me., Feb. 14—Benjamin H. Turner, formerly of Mystic, Iowa, mayor of James D. Walker, continued his hunger strike today. He has refused to eat since his conviction on Friday. Fears were expressed that Turner was losing his mind.

MOORE REFUSES DICTATORSHIP

Washington, Feb. 14 — If the American stage hires a "dictator" it will be somebody else—not Alexander P. Moore, former Ambassador to Spain.

Moore announced here today that he had been "informally approached" on the proposal, but declared he would not accept it because "I don't believe in censorship."

"If the New York stage wants to clean itself up it can do so by taking off smutty plays," said Lillian Russell's former husband.

RULING HANDED DOWN IN CITY LIQUOR FINES

Attorney General Says State and Municipality Should Split Evenly

One-half of the fines collected from Crabbe dry law violators in Marion's Municipal Court must be paid into the state treasury according to a ruling handed down today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner to officials of the State Bureau of Accounting and Inspecting.

The attorney general held that this disposition must be made of these fines despite a provision in the statute creating the local Municipal Court which decrees that the court clerk "shall, on the first day of each month, pay to the county treasury all fines collected for violation of state laws."

Municipal Judge Martin, when informed regarding the attorney general's ruling today, stated that this interpretation of the law has been recognized for some time but that disposition of Crabbe law fines here had been held up pending a specific decision in regard to the local court.

Only One Case

Only one Crabbe law case has been docketed here since the local court opened on Jan. 1. When prohibition violators are arrested in the city, the charges are almost invariably filed under the provisions of the city ordinance, thus giving the municipal treasury the full amount of the fines. Arrests outside the city, however, must be listed as Crabbe law cases.

It is likely that the clause relating to fines in state cases will be included in the list of amendments to the local Municipal Court statute scheduled for adoption at this session of the legislature.

MAN TESTIFIES HE MET "PAT" THROUGH RUDNER

State Attempts To Draw Net of Evidence About Ben in Mellett Trial

Canton, Feb. 14—The state attempted today to draw more closely its net of evidence against Ben Rudner, charged with having been the "pay-off" man in the murder of Don R. Mellet, Canton's vice crusading editor, who was murdered last July.

Through the testimony of two Massillon business men, both known to Rudner, they brought out evidence tending to link Rudner with Pat McDermott, the "trigger man," now serving life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for the crime.

William Brunne, under direct examination testified that a week before the murder he was introduced to Pat alias Dermott by Rudner in Rudner's Hardware store.

"Bill," Brunne testified Rudner said to him, 'I want you to meet Mr. McDermott, another unfortunate fellow who served time with me in Atlanta.'"

Rudner had testified in the McDermott trial that he had never known McDermott.

GOVERNMENT SCORES

Gains Admission to Telegrams in Daugherty-Miller Trial

New York, Feb. 14 — The government, following a protracted verbal battle, today scored a long sought point in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial when it gained admission into evidence of several telegrams exchanged between Former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller and his secretary, Frederick Wilson. The telegrams dealt with the approval of the $7,000,000 German claim for war-seized property, for which the defendants are alleged to have shared in a $391,000 bribe.

SEVERE QUAKES FELT

Many Reported Killed, Homes Damaged in Yugo-Slavia

Vienna, Feb. 14—Northern Yugo-Slavia suffered severe earthquakes early today.

The center of the earthquake was Etolac in Hertzegovina, where many are reported to have been killed when roofs and walls fell in.

The earthquake was felt in Belgrade.

STUDENT, 88, SUICIDE

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 14—Harold Arthur Goddard, 88, of Beverly, N. J., committing suicide because of a nervous breakdown, it was learned here today. Goddard, a student at Princeton Graduate College, was found dead between the gas range in his room and a window here Tuesday by a neighbor. He leaves a wife, who is in a hospital suffering from a nervous disorder, and a small child.

BREAK IN WAGE NEGOTIATIONS LOOMING TODAY

Operators Threaten To Withdraw from Conference at Miami, Fla.

DEMAND MINER ACTION

Union Officials Retort They Are Ready for Finish Fight On Pay Cut

Miami Fla., Feb. 14—Danger of a break in the negotiations arose today as the representatives of the bituminous coal miners and operators met for the first time to draft a new wage scale agreement.

Some of the influential Ohio and Pennsylvania operators, following a caucus of the mine owners, threatened to withdraw from the conference by Wednesday or Thursday if the miners show no signs of accepting a wage below the present $7.50 a day scale. Union officials retorted that they were ready for a finish fight to block any pay reduction.

The conference was summoned to draft a new wage scale for the Jacksonville agreement which expires March 31. Unless an agreement, permanent or temporary, is reached, approximately 350,000 union bituminous miners will walk out of the pits at the expiration of the present contract.

None of the responsible union or operator officials really believes that there will be a strike this year. They believe that a compromise though it can be effected only after the sharpest kind of fighting, will be reached. The negotiations are expected to be fairly drawn out.

Danger of Tieup

Certain it is, however, that unless there are wholesale concessions by both sides from the proposals originally presented, there is danger of a tieup in the bituminous industry, which is admitted by both groups to be in none too healthy a condition.

The miners went into conference, standing for $7.50 a day, the present basic wage as the irreducible minimum wage. Leaders on the policy committee said they would not dare report back to the membership with anything less. They will try to get as much more as possible, probably for binding purposes at least, demanding an increase of $1.50 or so a day. Some of the union delegates are also urging a six-hour, five-day week, but this, except for its utility in a concession, seems unlikely to play any important part. The union has other proposals to counter the operators' wage cut demands. Many of the miners would be satisfied to get a renewal of the present pay scale, if it were backed by gilt edge pledges of the operators not to violate it. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has charged that several large companies have abrogated the Jacksonville agreement by making substantial wage cuts.

Want Flexible Wage

Declaring that they are facing virtually ruinous competition from the non-union coal fields in West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, where lower wages are paid, the operators insisted not only upon a substantial wage re-

MAID LEARNS SHE IS HEIR TO FIVE MILLION

Celebrates St. Valentine Day by Several Hours of Happy Sobbing

Meerane, Saxony, Feb. 24 — Marie Drandorf, 28, maid in the household of the local butcher was overcome with joy today as she celebrated St. Valentine Day by several hours of happy sobbing.

Marie has just been informed that an uncle, the late Mr. Schaffhauser, a real estate dealer of Milwaukee, has left her a fortune of $5,000,000.

The news spread quickly and Marie was flooded with offers of marriage and requests for money.

Refusing to count her chickens before they are hatched Marie announced she would continue to work as a maid until the first payment has been made on the legacy and then she will marry her fiance, a bricklayer.

MURDER TRIAL

Selecting Jury For Case of Florida Real Estate Salesman

Minnola, N. Y., Feb. 14—Harold F. Webster, Florida real estate salesman who police say has confessed to have killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Gallaway, with an iron bar, went on trial today charged with the murder. The killing occurred on Jan. 8.

Webster is said to have admitted he quarreled with Mrs. Gallaway over financial matters, and that he struck her after she threatened to get a revolver and shoot him.

Selection of a jury was started as soon as the case was called.

Why it pays to look around--

We cannot recall how many times we have had customers in the store, inspecting our merchandise and our prices, and then say "I bought a suite but I wish now that I had looked around first." Also, we often hear it when people are looking at our rugs.

Furniture is something that you must look at and live with a great many years. Its companionship should be a great pleasure to you. The environment it helps to produce—especially if there are children or young folks in the family—is of great importance. You cannot afford to buy furniture—at any price—that looked all right in the store, but "fights" you or irritates you when you have it in your home.

Our advice is that you look elsewhere first—then come to Schaffner's and see for yourself if your claims are founded on fact.

Same credit arrangements can be made here as at any other store.

...ven Critics Admire How ...lation Has Handled China

...uation One That Can Draw Criticism from Almost Any Angle

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

...ASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Its Chi...ese policy is a great credit to the ...shington government. Even the ...ernment's severest critics in the ...Mol agree to that.

...t's true that the United States, like other powers, has a considerable ...al force in Chinese waters, and that Chinese don't like it.

...Astonishing to relate, state depart...nt officials, who generally think ...anything this country does is all ...ng, and that anybody who objects ...it is all wrong, say they don't blame Chinese for wanting to settle their ...n quarrel to suit themselves, with...outside interference.

...e wouldn't have stood it, when we were having a civil war if, say, state department officials of some other country had sent a fighting fleet into New York harbor, to train guns on Manhattan Island, or talked about landing marines, to protect its nationals, during the draft riots.

That kind of thing will do in a small muss, but in a full sized war, like the one in China, outside interference isn't international good form and the state department is free to admit it.

Protecting your nationals on the high sea, which belongs to everybody, is one thing, but the foreigner who's ashore in the midst of a war in somebody else's country must expect to take his chances. That's the state department's view of the situation—in principle.

IN practice, the state department's problem isn't so simple. It has public opinion to reckon with.

Suppose, before the United States entered the World War, some Americans in Paris had been killed by a shot from Germany's 75-mile gun or some American residents of London had had their houses wrecked in a Zeppelin raid. The state department couldn't consistently have been blamed for having had no forces of troops in Paris and London to protect them.

But suppose the Chinese should sack one of the big foreign settlements in their country and murder some Americans—and this government hadn't had some cruisers and marines available to try, at least, to prevent it. What a howl would go up! Wouldn't the state department get beck! You know it. So does the state department.

The state department takes precautions because it has to, no matter what it may believe in principle.

IT'S to be borne in mind that the leaders of China's warring factions have promised to take good care of foreign lives and property. They refuse to neutralize any foreign zones, but they do say the foreigners in them needn't worry.

The Republicans announced this policy when the revolution first broke out in China, around 1911-12.

This wasn't any Boxer uprising, they stated. The Boxers were a lot of ignorant fanatics. They (the Republicans) were enlightened, liberty lovers and their leaders, at any rate, were largely men of western education—as civilized as anybody.

SO the Republicans said. And they made good. From a good bit of personal experience in their fighting areas about the year 1912, I will state that they were more considerate of foreigners than some of the World War leaders a few years later.

It's a policy that has been stuck to ever since. There may have been a little rough work by irresponsible bandits and hoodlums, but not by the regularly enrolled military forces.

So when the Chinese pledge their word not to mistreat foreigners, they've given proofs that it's a promise not to be sneezed at.

J. A. KEHRWECKER HOME IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin caused about $300 damage to the home of John A. Kehrwecker, 435 Ballentine-av, Friday night.

Starting in the basement, the flames destroyed the stairway leading to the first floor and smoke did extensive damage to walls and woodwork throughout the entire house. The damage is covered by insurance.

All members of the family were away from home during the early part of the night and the fire was not discovered until Mr. Kehrwecker returned from up-town shortly after 11 o'clock. He immediately summoned the fire department and the flames were checked before spreading beyond the basement.

A call was sent to the fire department shortly before 7 o'clock Friday night from the D. R. Biggert home, 252 Bellefontaine-av, where sparks from the chimney threatened to ignite the roof. Two firemen made the run in Chief McFarland's car but found that their services were not needed. There was no damage to the building.

FIGHT AGAINST PENCE LAW TO START TUESDAY

Comings Bill Would Prohibit Collection of Utility Rates Under Protest

The opening clash in the fight against the Pence law, the statute which permits Ohio public utility companies to collect disputed rate increases by filing guarantee refund bonds, is scheduled to take place Tuesday afternoon in the state Senate chamber at Columbus.

The fight to take this privilege away from the utility companies follows introduction of a bill by Senator James R. Comings of Elyria which, if enacted into a law, will repeal the refund bond feature of the Pence law and prohibit collection of rate increases until they are officially approved by the State Utilities Commission.

The Comings bill is to be strongly opposed by utility companies, according to forecasts coming from Columbus, and it will be just as enthusiastically supported by an opposition headed by the Ohio City Solicitors' Association.

To Lead Fight

Grant E. Mouser Jr., former Marion city solicitor, now employed as special counsel in the attorney general's office, will be one of the leading participants in the fight against the Pence law. This was indicated at Columbus today when it was announced that Mr. Mouser had received a letter from Senator Chester C. Bolton of Portsmouth, chairman of the senate public utilities committee, requesting the Marion attorney to appear before the committee at the opening hearing Tuesday and present his views on the proposed refund bond repeal.

The invitation was sent at the suggestion of Senator Comings and Representative Harry Ball of Portsmouth, house leader who is directing consideration of the proposal in his branch of the legislature.

Accepts Invitation

Mr. Mouser has accepted the invitation in a letter in which he states that he will participate in the proceedings, not as a representative of the attorney generals' office, but as authorized spokesman for the city of Marion. He informed the legislative committee that when he accepted appointment with the attorney general he did so with the understanding that he would be permitted to represent Marion and other Ohio cities in connection with utility rate controversies now pending before the state commission.

In support of his arguments against the bond feature of the Pence law, Mr. Mouser, it was announced today, will present figures intended to show that it does not provide an absolute guarantee of refunds to the public in case utility rate boosts are disapproved.

Compile Figures

These figures were compiled by accountants and engineers employed by Marion and other Ohio municipalities which have been contesting gas and telephone rate increases. The tabulation shows, it is said, that although the amount of refunds to which telephone and gas customers would have been entitled on Jan. 1 of this year amounted to $5,874,962, the refund bonds on file at that time totalled only $1,863,800.

Of particular interest Marion residents are figures on the Logan Gas Co. and the Marion County Telephone Co.

72 Affected

Seventy-two Ohio cities including Marion, are protesting rate increases asked by the Logan Gas Co. The table to be presented Tuesday by Mr. Mouser shows that on Jan. 1 this company had collected in the 72 cities an excess of $1,444,444 which will have to be refunded should the rates be officially disapproved and that the bonds filed to guarantee refunds amount to only $400,000.

Collections of the Marion County Telephone Co, subject to refund on Jan. 1 totalled $99,340 and the refund bonds on file total $30,000.

While officials asking that the refund bond law be repealed admit that these two companies have resources ample to assure reimbursement of their patrons regardless of the bond deficiencies, they claim that this condition does not exist in connection with all public utility corporations. They also maintain that there are certain to be many small collection items on which refunds would never be made.

These two rate controversies are the ones in which Mr. Mouser is primarily interested. The first protests against the proposed gas and telephone rate boosts were filed by him on behalf of the city of Marion while he was filling the office of city solicitor. It was because of this circumstance and his thorough familiarity with the proceedings that the local council authorized him to continue acting as special counsel for the city in the rate controversies after he resigned as solicitor to accept appointment with the Attorney General.

After the city of Marion, with Mouser acting as it official representative, launched its attack on the gas rate increase, all of the other municipalities affected by the new schedule joined in the fight. There were 72 cities in the list and although a number have since adopted ordinances accepting the new rates, the larger municipalities remain aligned with Marion in carrying the contest to conclusion.

Marion Civil War Veteran Recalls Visit of Lincoln To His Cot in Hospital

I. H. Buchanan, Cooper Post Member, Says Martyred President Sat on Stool at His Bedside and Wished Him a Speedy Recovery

Recollections of President Lincoln are happily and vividly related by J. H. Buchanan, 246 Leader-st, who served with the Eleventh Pennsylvania Cavalry and of the One-Hundred and-Twenty-Sixth Infantry, and is a member of Cooper Post, No. 117, G. A. R.

Mr. Buchanan has the honor of having been paid a visit by President Lincoln while a patient at Fairfax Seminary Hospital, Washington, where he spent some time recovering from wounds received in service with the Army of the Potomac. "I wish you good luck, young man; you are wounded as badly as any one I know, but be of good cheer, the war will soon be over," was the president's message to the young man, then a boy of less than 20, as he sat on a stool at his bedside. Mr. Buchanan was able to pass in review before the president at the close of the war.

Pays Tribute

"President Lincoln was a wonderful man and we believed everything he told us," was Mr. Buchanan's loyal tribute to his war president.

Members of Cooper Post observed the birthday anniversaries of Washington and Lincoln in a commemorative service at their regular meeting last Monday in charge of the patriotic instructor, Col. George B. Christian. The program included music by members of the post drum corps and Commander Charles Wiley read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Talks were given by Lieut. Walter Lee Sherfey and Captain Carpenter, patriotic instructor of Attica. Six of the post members present had met President Lincoln and many of those present had voted for him. Dr. George T. Harding, a member of the post, who is spending the winter with his son, Dr. George T. Harding, Jr., was one of a trio of youths who called on the president at Washington during the war it was recalled. Among the youths who voted for President Lincoln before they were of age were Scott Merrill, B. Vine-st, and Comrade Buchanan. They did this feeling that if they were men enough to carry a gun and fight they were eligible to vote, Mr. Buchanan stated.

Colonel George B. Christian recalled today the public memorial services conducted throughout the country following the death of President Lincoln and the bugle used to sound taps during the solemn journey of the funeral party across the country from Washington to Springfield, is now the property of the bugler of the Thirteenth Cavalry Association of which Colonel Christian is president.

In his talk on President Lincoln at the post meeting Colonel Christian said that every one was agreed that modern attempts to belittle the immortal name of Lincoln was simply the determined efforts of so-called literary "pot-boilers" to produce stories for commercial purposes.

MARION REALTORS WILL ATTEND STATE MEETING

Fourth Annual Conference of Realty Brokers To Be Held Feb. 21

Several Marion realtors are planning to attend the fourth annual conference of the brokerage division of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, to be held in the Deshler Hotel at Columbus, Monday, Feb. 21.

Problems relating to the sale and ownership of the property in decadent residential districts are expected to furnish the chief topic of discussions scheduled for the meeting, although other important topics are on the program. Ray C. Smith, of Toledo, chairman of the brokerage division of the realtors' state organization, states that values in the older residential districts of every growing city have been affected by the suburban trend, which has been made possible by the automobile. He contends that a thorough discussion of this subject between brokers from various cities will prove helpful to those who must advise clients desiring to deal in this class of property.

M. J. Rudolph of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, is scheduled to open the program with a welcoming address. Mr. Rudolph succeeded J. W. Jacoby of this city as head of the state organization, Mr. Jacoby's term having expired on Jan. 1.

PARENT-TEACHER GROUP TO HEAR TALKS ON CRIME

Judge L. B. McNeal and Addison Bain To Speak on Juvenile Trouble

Mrs. Addison Bain, of the Marion County Detention Home and Judge L. B. McNeal, of the juvenile court, will discuss the crime wave in Marion at the meeting of members of the Parent-Teacher Council, Thursday night at Harding High School. Plans are being made to care for a large audience.

The meeting will mark the observance of the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the Parent-Teacher movement in the state and the date has been set aside for special observance by members of the various councils throughout the state by Governor Donahey. In the proclamation Governor Donahey urged local officers, civic, social and religious organizations to render full co-operation to the public school system in fostering a spirit of more perfect union between the home and the school in the interest of children in Ohio.

People who give themselves way are not necessarily charitable.

MAN GETS JAIL TERM FOR DRIVING INTOXICATED

Clyde Tiffany, 22, 762 Holmes-st, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Martin Saturday on the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Tiffany was arrested shortly after 7 o'clock Friday after he is alleged to have driven his machine, a Chevrolet touring car, head-on into A. W. Granger's car, parked in front of the Granger home, 323 N. Prospect-st.

One of the fenders of the Granger machine, a Maxwell sedan, was almost completely demolished, police state.

Following the crash, Tiffany drove away but was taken into custody shortly after a complaint was telephoned into police headquarters.

BABY BUGGY NOT SAFE PLACE TO STORE MONEY

T. M. Slumph, 510 Davids-st, Reports Theft of $25 from Infant's Carriage

A baby carriage is not a safe storage place for money. This is especially true when the vehicle is parked on a public thoroughfare, according to information filed with police by T. M. Slumph of 510 Davids-st.

Mr. Slumph notified police that $25 was stolen from a baby carriage while it was standing on Henry-st shortly before 10 o'clock Friday night. He was unable to furnish any tangible clews to assist officers in hunting for the money.

W. E. Mouser, 625 Oak-st, reported that a spare tire was stolen from his car while it was parked in the Marion Packing Co. garage Friday night.

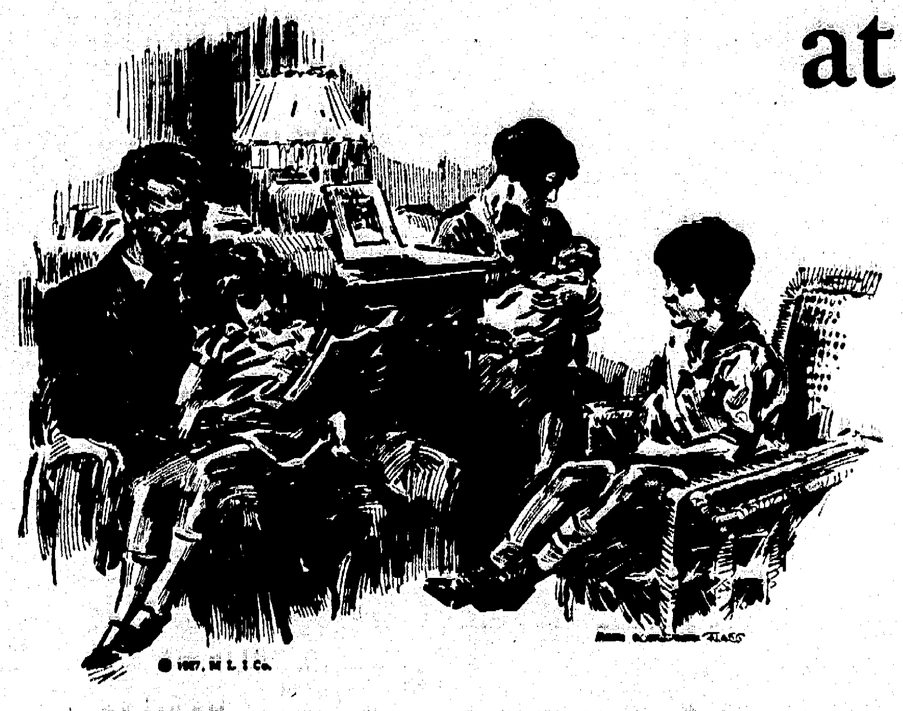
The Value of Human Life at all ages



"Broke"—
but Worth $79,100

Dad earns $50 a week. He has just paid the rent, the grocery bill and the milk bill. He says he is "broke, but happy".... In reality, he and his family are worth a small fortune.... This American family represents $79,100 of the nation's wealth.

ALMOST any man will agree that his life is more valuable to himself than the things he owns. Now he can have the comfort of knowing how valuable his life is to others—from a dollars-and-cents standpoint.

Today it is known that the lives of our men, women and children are the nation's greatest asset. The economic value of these lives completely overshadows the value of all of our material wealth.

Recent computations made by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show the real economic value of the lives of our people from babyhood to old age. These figures are based on the average family—with an average income—and take into consideration the average length of life of each member of the family, together with the cost of bringing children into the world, feeding them, clothing them, educating them and bringing them up to a self-supporting basis.

Long lives and short lives—small incomes and big incomes—are reckoned in these calculations. At 40, a man earning $100 a week is rated as having an economic value of $45,670. At 30, the $50-a-week man represents a value of $31,000. He had a value of $9,333 the day he was born.*

—And then come the figures showing the total economic value of all the men, women and children of the United States—the astounding total of 1,500 billion dollars ($1,500,000,000,000).

* If you wish to find out how much each member of your family is worth, economically, send for a booklet recently prepared by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company—It tells how a person of any age may measure the economic value of his or her life. It will be mailed free.

Total Bonuses and Dividends to Policyholders from 1892 to and including 1927		$304,594,554.96

Life Insurance Outstanding

Ordinary Insurance	$6,566,596,872.00
Industrial (premiums payable weekly)	$5,487,800,648.00
Group Insurance	$1,444,584,107.00
Total Insurance Outstanding	$13,498,981,627.00
Number of Policies in Force December 31, 1926	37,239,579

Perhaps the easiest way to realize this stupendous figure is to compare it with the total value of the entire material wealth of our country.

The latest available government reports show that everything we own—land, buildings, railroads, mines, raw materials, manufactured products, crops, live stock—everything included—was 321 billions.... Our lives are worth nearly five times as much as our property.

America can well be proud of the additional insurance placed on the valuable lives of her people in 1926. More than 16 billion dollars ($16,000,000,000) was written and revived during the year by about 300 life insurance companies—making the total amount of life insurance in force approximately 80 billion dollars ($80,000,000,000). About one sixth of the grand total is carried by the Metropolitan.

But while the people of this country carry 80 billion dollars of life insurance—or only one-twentieth of the economic value of their lives—they carry more than 160 billions of insurance on property—more than one-half of its value.

You would not insure a $5,000 house for $250—one twentieth of its value. You insure it adequately. But have you insured yourself adequately? Send for the booklet which tells you what you are worth. Study it. Then decide whether or not you carry enough insurance to protect your family.

America is rapidly gaining a better knowledge of the value of its greatest wealth—human lives.

The America of the future will better safeguard its wealth and happiness.

HALEY FISKE, President FREDERICK H. ECKER, Vice-President

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is a mutual organization. It has no stock and no stockholders. Its wealth is owned solely by its 24,500,000 Policyholders—in the United States and Canada.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT MINERS' PARLEY STARTS ON PAGE 1

...duction but upon a flexible wage scale which may be revised as conditions warrant by an arbitration board set up by the union and the owners. The board would consist of 11 members, four miners, four operators and three men to be agreed upon by the workers and owners. The board would establish a competitive wage, that is, a weighted average of the scale paid in the non-union fields. To this wage the operators would add 10 per cent for union men.

Union officials pointed out that the average non-union wage is $5 which would make the wage proposed in the operators' plan about $5.50 a day, or $2 below the present scale. They shouted a loud no to this proposition.

The operators here are not at all willing to go above $7.50 while the non-union fields are posting reductions. The compromise, therefore, if it is reached, probably will approximate the present rate. The wage is being drafted for the so-called central competitive field, consisting of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. This is the scale upon which wages in all other fields are based.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES NOT STOCKING COAL REPORT

Marion Manufacturers Pay Little Attention to Mine Wage Controversy

While industrial establishments in Ohio today were reported heavily stocking coal, in preparation for a possible coal miners' strike, should negotiations between miners and operators of the central competitive field opening today at Miami, Fla., fail to result in a wage agreement, no indications of such action on the part of local industries is seen, it was reported here today.

While heavy shipments of coal are being carried through Marion to northern points and stations along the Great Lakes, shipments to Marion plants have shown no great increase, according to local railroad officials.

Coal shipments through this city on the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania Railroads to northern points have been heavy all winter and a few weeks ago were reported increasing. Since that time a steady increase has been seen.

It is believed that a coal slump in this territory will follow a wage agreement, should the miners and operators agree, because of the heavy supplies accumulated by most industrial users, and in view of the slackening winter domestic demand which will come with the expiration of the Jacksonville wage agreement, March 31.

"Peddling" mines in the southern Ohio fields have been reported working full shifts to supply the demand from industrial users who are laying in supplies.

PLAYLET GIVEN

Schrock Community Club Members Appear in Program at School

A playlet, "The Modern Woman's Employment Bureau," was given at the meeting of members of the Schrock Community Club Friday night at the school southeast of the city. Those taking part were Misses Hilda Click, Alma Click, Ethel Augenstine, Elizabeth Long and Dorothy Hensel. Another play, "Rev. Peter Brice, the Bachelor," was given by Mrs. Albert Click, Mrs. Truman Owen, Mrs. Alpheus Gruber, Mrs. Ellis Epley, Mrs. Frank Fairchild and Misses Hilda and Alma Click, also was an entertaining number of the program. Music for the program was contributed by Misses Ethel Augenstine, Hilda and Alma Click. About $5 was netted on a pie social which followed the program. About 125 people were in attendance. Announcement was made of a playlet, "A Poor Married Man," to be given by the young people of the club at the next meeting, March 11.

REV. S. S. HARDY DELIVERS INTERESTING SERMON

Rev. S. S. Hardy of Goodrich, Ont., who is conducting services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church during the month of February, preached a most interesting and inspiring sermon at the service at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. Stewart Vermillion and Miss Frances Irvin sang a duet, "Arise, O Lord God" by Huhn.

Reverend Hardy will remain and conduct services here for two Sundays, Feb. 20 and 27.

ADMINISTRATOR OF ESTATE SUED BY CARL HAAS

Asks Foreclosure In Event Defendant Fails To Make Settlement

Suit to collect $600 and interest on a note secured by mortgage has been filed in Marion County Common Pleas Court by Carl R. Haas against John H. Clark, as administrator of the estate of W. M. DeBolt and others.

According to the petition the note was given to Ira Myrtle Converse by DeBolt and she assigned it to Haas. Haas asks that the court ascertain the amount due him, that the defendant be ordered to pay the judgment and in default seeks foreclosure of the mortgage.

Denies Charges

General denial of the charges contained in the plaintiff's petition is set up in the answer of Thomas Ballinger, a minor, to the action brought against him by the Credit Loan & Discount Co.

The loan company recently filed suit for $220 claimed due on a note given to the J. E. Chambers Co. as payment for an automobile.

Asks Foreclosure

John Mahaffey, party defendant in an action brought in Marion County Common Pleas Court by the Marion Savings Bank Co. against Cora Iler and others today filed an answer and cross petition in court.

In his answer Mahaffey denies all the allegations of the petition with the exception of the claim that George E. and Cora Iler are in possession of the property. In the cross petition Mahaffey sets up a claim of $1,300. The cross petition states that on Aug. 25, 1908, G. E. Iler executed and delivered to him a promissory note for $1,807 and that there is now due on that note $1,300 plus six per cent interest from Aug. 25, 1925. Iler, the cross petition sets up, gave a mortgage to secure the note.

Charging that the conditions of the mortgage have been broken Mahaffey asks the court to foreclose to satisfy his claim.

Seeks $3,400

Payment of $3,400 claimed due on a promissory note, or foreclosure of a mortgage to satisfy the claim, is sought in a petition filed in Common Pleas Court late Saturday by the Home Building, Savings & Loan Co. against Robert M. Blackford and others.

In the petition the loan company sets forth that W. I. and Flora R. Jones, party defendants in the suit, on Jan. 19, 1921 gave their promissory note for $3,000 to the bank, repayable in weekly installments of $9 and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. The note, the loan company states in its petition, was secured by mortgage.

The petition further states that the property was transferred by the Jones to Arthur J. and Della Soules, who assumed all obligations of the contract. Later the property was again transferred to Robert B. Blackford, who in turn, it is claimed, assumed all obligations in connection with consummation of the contract made between the executors of the note and the loan company.

Makes Changes

Several changes in the wording of the original action for $25,000 damages are contained in an amended petition filed in Marion County Common Pleas Court today by Marion Shaull as administrator of the estate of Nathan Ranck against Harrey W. Zachman.

The damage action grew out of an automobile accident two miles east of Marion on Oct. 13, 1924, in which Ranck sustained injuries which are claimed to have caused his death.

Answers Suit

Bert T. Radebaugh, 571 N. Greenwood-st, today filed an answer in Common Pleas Court to the $10,000 damage suit filed against him by Miss Elsie J. Jones, as the result of injuries suffered when Radebaugh shot her while she, a roomer in his home, was entering the house.

Miss Jones, in her petition, states that she was wounded in the arm and side when Radebaugh fired at her with a double-barreled shotgun, Feb. 23, 1925. Radebaugh, in his answer, declares that he believed Miss Jones to be a burglar and asserts that she should have made her identity known.

Asks Divorce

Asserting that her husband is guilty of neglect and cruelty, Mrs. Nora Persinger, Uncapher-av, today filed suit in Common Pleas Court for a divorce from Claude Persinger. The couple were married Sept. 18, 1915, and have five children.

Mrs. Persinger asks for custody of the children and alimony.

Files Answer

Claiming that there is due it from Edward S. Moon and Lyda P. Moon the sum of $4,088.68 on a promissory note, the Marion Savings Bank Co. today filed an answer in Common Pleas Court in the foreclosure suit of the Citizens Building & Loan Co. against Moon.

The banking company asks that proceeds from the sale of the property after the foreclosure be applied to its claims.

Set Hearing Date

Final hearing on the assessments and other provisions of the Chester C. Roberts joint county ditch will be held March 14, in the office of Marion County commissioners. Commissioners of Marion and Crawford Counties met today to set the date of the hearing. The Roberts ditch extends across the Crawford County line.

GREGG OPENS LEGAL ATTACK IN FORD CASE

Heavy Artillery Is Brought into Play Against Minority Stockholders

Washington, Feb. 14—The government today opened up its heavy artillery before the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals to break down the contention of former minority stockholders of the Ford Motor Co. that the treasury's assessment of more than $30,000,000 in extra taxes was unjustified.

Solicitor of Internal Revenue A. W. Gregg, opening the treasury's case, declared that Ford Motor stock in 1913 was worth from $2,500 to $6,500 a share, in contrast to the $9,500 valuation claimed by Senator James Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, the Dodge estate and other stockholders.

Valuation of stock in 1913, upon which depended the profits made by the minority stockholders when they sold out to Henry Ford in 1919, is the principal contention. This figure will fix the income tax liability of the stockholders.

Ford's Value $6,100

Henry Ford himself valued the stock at but $6,100 a share in 1917, in his capital stock tax return and contended that the risk of the automobile industry justified a high capitalization rate, Gregg declared.

"We shall prove that Mr. Ford, Senator Couzens and other officers of the company valued the stock for purposes of local taxation at a figure much lower than that for which the government is contending at the present time," Gregg said.

Other principal contentions, upon which the government bases its cases, were:

Principal Contentions

(1) Valuation of $9,500 a share placed on Ford stocks as of 1913 by Former Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel Roper, was made after cursory consideration only, was illegal and not binding on the government.

(2) Returns made by stockholders on basis of Roper valuation were never audited, except for obvious errors on the face of the returns, and none of the cases were ever closed.

(3) In March 1913, all general factors affecting security values were adverse and would have depressed value of stock in business conditions were unsettled money rates high, security values on market falling and trading on market was dull.

(4) Some of minority stockholders had unsuccessfully tried to sell out from 1916 to 1919.

Industry in Infancy

"In 1913 the automobile industry was in its infancy," Gregg said. "Up to that time it had been characterized by financial reverses and failures; automobile securities at that time were regarded by investors as speculative and involving a large element of risk.

"It is our contention that the Ford Motor Co., by concentrating on one model, contrary to the general policy of the automobile industry, accentuated this risk factor."

Gregg asserted that the government would prove that the value of Ford stock was further decreased because it was controlled by one man, that fact would have greatly influenced any prospective buyer, he said.

By-laws of the Ford company and stock certificates contained such restrictions upon the sale as to make it impossible to use the stock as collateral for loans or to list it upon the stock exchange, Gregg declared.

PAST PRESIDENTS SPEAK AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Reviews of Respective Terms Given at Noon Meeting Today

Talks by the four past presidents of the Marion Rotary Club featured the club's program following its weekly noon luncheon today at Hotel Harding.

The past presidents, named in the order of their terms, are Fred E. Guthery, Arthur C. Berry, Josiah Bindley and Dr. C. W. Sawyer. Each of the speakers gave a brief review of the club's events during his year as presiding officer.

The president at this time is C. B. King, vice president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

SEE NIAGARA

Many Take Advantage of Week-end Excursion to Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hoop, son Paul and daughter, Lorile, of Delawareav, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Fleenor of E. Center-st and Mrs. Jesse Hooper of E. Prospect-st, returned Sunday night from Niagara Falls, where they were on an excursion train run by Sunday-Sullivan Co., leaving here Friday night.

"Excursions to Niagara at this season of the year have been suspended as a feature of the Sun tourist service on account of the extreme cold, but for the benefit of the many persons who desired to see the wintry splendor, there were run this week-end special trains which left Marion at 7 o'clock Friday night and arrived at Niagara Falls at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. Those who went on the excursion report that the trip was a most enjoyable one, and that the scenic splendor of the falls in winter is beyond description," Hooper said.

MRS. LENA C. RIEGER, 60, HEART DISEASE VICTIM

Ill Five Months; Funeral Services To Be Held Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Lena C. Rieger, 60, wife of Charles L. Rieger, died at 8:10 o'clock yesterday morning at her home, 223 N. Greenwood-st. Heart trouble and complication of diseases caused her death. She had been ill five months.

Mrs. Rieger was born in Herrenalb, Wurttenberg, Germany, Sept. 17, 1866, and was married to Charles L. Rieger April 4, 1891, in this city. Her parents, Caroline Lauchee and John Pfeiffer, both natives of Germany, preceded her in death. She was a member of Salem Evangelical Church, Druids Circle, the Protected Home Circle and of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Salem Evangelical Church.

Surviving are one daughter, Miss Marie T. Rieger, at home, three sons, John H. Rieger of Detroit, Carl L. Rieger, of Willard, Henry T. Rieger, of the U. S. Navy; three brothers, Fred Pfeiffer of Toledo, Charles Pfeiffer of Detroit and William Pfeiffer of this city, and three grandchildren. One son, Frank, preceded her in death five years ago and one daughter in infancy.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home, 223 N. Greenwood-st, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Salem Evangelical Church. Rev. Ernst G. Kuehnler, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Church of Kenton, will officiate and burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

ONE CHANGE NECESSARY IN AMENDMENT LIST

Appeal Clause Regarding Civil Suits Would Be Unconstitutional Bureau Reports

At least one change will have to be made in the list of amendments to Marion's Municipal Court statute, recently recommended by the Marion County Bar Association, according to information given out Saturday by the state legislature's research bureau.

All Municipal Court civil suits involving property of money valued at $100 or more would be subject to appeal to the Court of Common Pleas under the Bar Association's proposal. This provision, the research bureau reports, would be unconstitutional, as the state constitution gives the right of appeal in suits involving $20 or more. This does not apply, however, to cases tried before juries.

Aside from this one feature, it is not likely that there will be any important changes made in the Bar Association's list of proposed amendments, according to the report received from Columbus.

The original statute, which created the local Municipal Court and provided rules for its operation, restricted the right of appeal to Common Pleas Court to civil actions above $500.

The Municipal Court amendment bill is expected to be introduced in the House some time this week by H. E. Hill, representative from Marion County.

FINAL ACTION ON WARD PLAN SET FOR TONIGHT

City Council Scheduled To Pass on New City Redistricting Arrangement

After being the subject of more than two months of controversy and deliberation, Marion's ward redistricting plan is to come before City Council tonight for final action. It is expected that the ordinance, designating boundaries for the six wards that are to be arrangement, will be adopted at tonight's session.

This ordinance provides a revised alignment of the new ward boundaries as a substitute for a plan which was approved by council last fall and which failed to meet with the approval of various citizens and civic organizations.

The chief objection to the original plan was based upon large differences in population of the six wards. This defect has been at least partly remedied in the revision, which appears to have met with the approval of all who protested against the original boundary arrangement.

After deciding on the revised plan, council delayed action on it to give citizens an opportunity to state their views and file objections. No objections have been received and the Marion Real Estate Board, which headed the movement protesting against the original ordinance, recently adopted a resolution approving the revision.

HIGH GRADE GASOLINE PRICE CUT ANNOUNCED

A cut of three cents a gallon in the price of its highest grade of gasoline was announced today by the Public Service Oil Corporation, through its local manager, P. A. Schroeter. Beginning Tuesday, Mr. Schroeter states, this gasoline will sell for 21 cents a gallon at the company's local filling station, Farming and Main-sts, and at all other points in Ohio.

There is to be no decrease in the ordinary grades of gasoline, Mr. Schroeter stated.

HOME BUILT 70 YEARS AGO BEING TORN DOWN

Turney House on N. Prospect-st Falls Before March of Progress

One of Marion's oldest dwelling houses, a brick structure erected about 70 years ago on N. Prospect-st by Weaver A. Turney, is being torn down to clear ground that will be used as storage space by the Millard Hunt Co., local building supply firm.

The dwelling stands on part of a tract of ground measuring 71 by 165 feet along the Erie railway tracks immediately north of the Marion National Mill, which was purchased recently by the Hunt Co. Another old residence, built by a sister of Mr. Turney more than 50 years ago, occupies the north half of the tract. This building will not be removed at this time, Mr. Hunt stated today.

Although the land will be used temporarily for storage space, it is probable that it will be the site for an enlargement of the Hunt Co. plant some time in the future, Mr. Hunt indicated.

The Turney house, a two-story brick building of ancient design, was erected before the Erie railroad was built, according to information obtained from old residents. In later years it was the home of John Gregory, who started the business now operated by the Marion National Mill Co.

MOUSER TO BE SPEAKER AT FINDLAY GATHERING

American Legion Officials From Parts of Ohio to Attend

Grant E. Mouser, Jr., former Marion City Solicitor now employed as special counsel in the attorney general's office, will be one of the principal speakers at an American Legion rally and banquet to be held in Findlay on March 17.

Legion Post commanders and past commanders from all parts of the state have been invited and the gathering is expected to be one of the largest of its kind ever held in northern Ohio. Ralph D. Cole, prominent Findlay attorney and Legionnaire, will preside as toastmaster.

It is expected that A. W. Sandrock, commander of Bird McGinnis Post No. 102, and several local past commanders will attend.

MAN FINED ON CHARGE OF FAILURE TO GET DOG TAG

Max Mouser of Belmont-st pleaded guilty in Municipal Court, Saturday, to the charge of having failed to register his dog with the County Auditor, as required by state law. He paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Mouser was the second dog owner arrested last week by Sheriff James A. Deal and deputies after the sheriff had issued a warning that all dogs in the county would have to be provided with tags. Jan. 20 was the last day for registration of dogs and at that time it was estimated that there were approximately 1,000 canines in the county for which tags had not been purchased.

Strength Sapped by Overwork Rebuilt by Tanlac

Ben Romano broke under long hours and heavy work. On verge of breakdown, tried Tanlac and regained lost vitality. Praises Tanlac highly Ben Romano lives at 700 Bowery St., Akron, Ohio. A native of Birmingham, Ala., he has a host of friends in that city. While working for the Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company there, he spared no effort to succeed, putting all his strength and energy into his work. "Logging pig iron ten hours a day takes strength and vitality," said Mr. Romano, "and in the end it got me. For three months I was played out, nervous—on the verge of a breakdown.

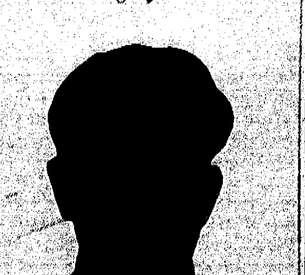
"My stomach and liver went back on me, and heartburn, gas and dizziness kept me in constant misery. I could neither eat, sleep nor digest normally, so grew steadily weaker. Shortly before coming to Akron I started on Tanlac and have been in the pink of condition ever since. My friends would congratulate me on my improvement and I would always say that Tanlac and nothing else was responsible for the change. It certainly put me on end to my troubles."



If you feel below par, try Tanlac, nature's own tonic and body builder. Made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has Tanlac. Over 40 million bottles sold.—adv.

M. E. QUARTET PRESENTED IN LOCAL CONCERT

Large Audience Hears Second of Lecture-Recital Program Series

Members of the quartet of Epworth M. E. Church, assisted by Misses Mary Evangeline Lawrence and Helen Beyer, pianists, presented the second of a series of three free Sunday community concerts at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon before a well-filled auditorium at the Marion Theater. The concerts are being sponsored by members of the Marion Lecture Recital Club, Marion's foremost musical organization.

As a prelude, Mrs. Harry T. Williams, organist of the First Presbyterian Church, played two beautiful organ numbers, "Allegro Jubilant" by Milligan and "Spring Song" by Hollins.

The Recessional by Reginald DeKoven, with words by Rudyard Kipling, was sung as the opening number of the quartet which consists of Mrs. Florence Shaw Rutherford, soprano, Mrs. Leila Connor Moore, contralto, Paul B. Sprang, tenor, and W. E. Orcutt, bass. "Tenting Tonight," by Kittredge was sung as an encore.

A vocal solo, "Arise, Shine for Thy Light Is Come" by James G. MacDermid, was sung by Mrs. Moore, after which Mr. Orcutt was heard in two vocal selections, "His Almighty Hand" by Hamblen and "Invictus" by Huhn, an encore.

Miss Beyer's beautiful piano numbers were "Prelude" by Schutt, and "Marionettes" by Sicherbatcheff, and as an encore "Juba" a dance by H. Nathaniel Dett. Mrs. Rutherford was heard in two delightful vocal solo numbers, "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Knapp, and "Give Thanks and Sing" by Harris. The quartet entertained with two numbers, "Fear Not, O Israel" by Max Spicker and, in conclusion, "Evening Praise," by William F. Sherwin.

Piano accompaniments were played by Miss Lawrence, accomplished pianist and organist of Epworth M. E. Church.

A third free concert will be presented at 4 o'clock next Sunday afternoon by the Lecture-Recital Club with assisting artists.

Evidently it doesn't take seriously the agitation of the "personal liberty" element for the return of light wines and beer.

Since the school architect of Cincinnati has turned down the name of Shakespeare for one of a number of names for a school-house window because it has more than nine letters, the obvious answer to the late Bard of Avon's famous question "What's in a name?"—is "Two letters too many."

We are not naturally vindictive, but when we see a half-wit motorist drive against a red stop light and grin at the fleeing pedestrians endeavoring to escape him, as we saw one doing while he dashed past at forty miles an hour, a night or two ago, we simply can't help feeling that we would be willing to contribute flowers should a discriminating fate take him to help the cause of humanity along.

A Noble Monument.

Some men have monuments erected to their memories; some leave monuments behind them or funds from which monuments along the lines stipulated in their bequests arise. Thus after death we have a line upon what most appealed in life to the latter class.

We are moved to these observations by the announcement that, under the terms of the will of the late E. D. Libbey, of Toledo, approximately $20,000,000 will be turned over to the Toledo Museum of Art. "Through the bequest," the announcement states, "the Toledo museum will have an ample endowment to carry out its plans for development. These include the erection of a building to house an art school and a school of music, the establishment of which is provided for in Mr. Libbey's will."

Mr. Libbey, who died late in 1925, established a cut glass business in the city on the lake in 1888. Five years later his exhibit at the Chicago World's fair so far surpassed all others in the line as to give it within a year or two a commanding position in the American cut-glass field. His goods stood for high-class work and quality. This reputation was maintained with the result that the business became one of Toledo's greatest industries and he amassed a large fortune, leaving an estate of about $30,000,000 after having given many millions away. He sponsored the erection of the present Art museum in Toledo, contributing more than half the cost. Subsequently he made many contributions to its collections, as has his widow also since his death.

A lover of the highest and best in art, Mr. Libbey became internationally known as an art connoisseur, and in passing has left behind him a monument dedicated to that which most appealed to him in life—a noble monument.

Voters Never Without Power.

We are ever a bit suspicious of the politicians, be they big or small, who are forever promising, who are always going to do big things for the people or save the people from this "outrage" or that. We may be prejudiced—we will go further than that and admit that we are—but our prejudice has not led us to this mistrust of such politicians. It has been the other way around; our study of the politicians and comparisons between their performances and their promises have led to our prejudices.

To us it has long been a mystery why the voters of any political division can go along, election after election, placing such men in office as they are given political preferment the land over. Do not mistake our meaning. We do not mean that good and able men are not to be found in political life, for they are. But along with them are so many of the brass-banders, the players to the galleries, the fellows who make a specialty of chasing publicity, so many of those who are forever prating of their great love for the people and their deep solicitude for the people's interests that one is almost inclined at times to imagine that the latter class is in the overwhelming majority, when the fact may be that they contribute only a minority which is making a majority of the noise. Were this noise esteemed for no more than it is worth, no serious harm would be done, but it's a sad fact that many are misled by it. They mistake noise for merit, and assume from the publicity given it in the newspapers that it is generally recognized as such. As a matter of fact, it is often the case that the men who do the best and most effective work in office receive a minimum of publicity. It's usually the horn-blowers who get the big headlines. Whoever doubts this has but to study men in public life to be convinced of its truth.

In the United States senate, by way of illustration, there are perhaps half a dozen members, possibly a dozen, whose names frequently meet the eye in type. Each has his specialty in so getting away from the general practice as to make his line sufficiently out of the ordinary to draw publicity. It may be bigoted or partisan bias. It may be a tendency to attract attention by violation in his utterances of the common decencies of life. It may be by assaults upon the living or the dead and gone which he would not dare to make outside legislative halls. It may be disagreement, persistant disagreement with any and all. There are a thousand and one ways and almost all of them are followed. And ninety-nine times out of a hundred such men will be found to be permeated by selfishness and egotism in the highest degree. But the real work of the senate is not done by them.

And the sad phase of the thing is that very often the public gives such politicians as we have herein tried to portray an attention and their constituents render them support at the polls which is denied to far abler men. We here refer not to members of congress alone, but to politicians up and down the entire line. Looking backward three or four decades in our political history, we can recall case after case where good, clean, able men have been defeated for political honors by the veriest four-flushers. We have seen able men, men of means, men of business discretion and ability who have made successes in their own affairs, so often defeated by men who had attained middle life and attained so little success in their own affairs as to have paid no direct taxes worthy the name, if any, that we have been inclined at times to assume that the common acceptation of a candidate's fitness to handle the business of his city, county or state is demonstrated by his lack of fitness to handle a business of his own.

There is such complain today over the cost of government as we can not recall ever having heard before. There is such a feeling over excessive tax burdens as has not been manifested in decades. There is a growing unrest against the multiplicity of laws under which we suffer. There is such a tendency to add bureaus, commissions and departments to existing governmental machinery as never before has been known. Under such circumstances would it not be well for the voter to stop and consider the possibility that the fault is largely his own? Isn't it about time for the electorate to realize that the speediest way to correct conditions is to elect to office men of such standing that they will work for the correction of all these abuses and not confine their efforts largely to the furtherance of their personal ambitions?

When it comes to mentality, it's pretty near a stand-off. The cow doesn't know enough to get off the crossing and the motorist tries to beat the train to it.

Mr. Hubbard, the wealthy Pittsburgh shovel manufacturer, has paid the $50,000 breach-of-promise judgment awarded to Anne Caldwell. All you who have shovels to buy, buy 'em now before the Hubbard reimbursement movement is inaugurated.

The New York courts have enjoined the New York police from interfering with the production of a number of vulgar attractions being staged there. It's a wonder the New York bandits and thugs never thought of utilizing the courts against the police authorities in the same way.

We imagined Mr. Coolidge was entirely out of it when Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler decided the president shouldn't run next year, but now, since "Uncle Henry" Ford says he wants to see Mr. Coolidge reelected, we just naturally are all up in the air again.

Another reason why France doesn't feel able to pay us even what she has borrowed from us since the close of the war is that she is planning the construction of new forts along her German and Italian frontiers at an estimated cost of 7,000,000,000 francs.

Queen Marie expects to interest wealthy Americans in the building of a new Roumanian capital, more centrally located than Bucharest, so we suppose we hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs may just as well make up our minds that we are due for a "touch."

PLENTY OF VALENTINES—

Guarding Health When Past Fifty.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is important for everybody past fifty to watch the kidneys and make sure they are performing their functions as they should.

In a sense, the kidneys are filters. It is their business to extract from the body certain poisons which will do great harm if permitted to stay in the blood.

In the digestion of protein food, such as lean meat, eggs and similar articles of diet, there is produced chemical waste which must be removed from the system. This differs from material waste which escapes through the intestines.

The chemical waste carried off by the kidneys is capable of being dissolved in water or other fluid. On this account, it is important for health's sake to drink plenty of pure water in order that these end products of digestion may be disposed of without delay.

It used to be believed that excessive meat eating is so trying to the kidneys that inflammation, or Bright's disease, as it is called, is likely to follow. Of course, excess in the use of any kind of food is bad for the body. To eat too much meat is unwise.

But today it is thought that kidney disease is the result of infection. Poison generated anywhere in the body may set up inflammatory action in the kidneys and end in serious Bright's disease.

I can not bear to see anybody neglect the teeth. The gums become pussy, the structure is broken by decay, and abscesses form at the roots. Nobody is safe who has teeth like this. Bright's disease, rheumatism, heart disease and joint diseases are among the ailments which may result.

Chronic constipation, with the excessive acidity and production of intestinal poison, is another factor in the development of kidney trouble. This is one of the preventable and remediable difficulties which can be overcome.

The infectious or contagious diseases, etc., like scarlet fever, measles, etc., may have secondary involvement of the kidneys. These ailments must not be regarded lightly. It is important to watch every organ during and after an attack of one of these maladies.

The best and easiest way to escape kidney disease is to live a regular and simple life. The simple forms of hygiene, the eating of plain food in simple quantities, the drinking of plenty of water, frequent baths and lots of sleep—in these are the secret of long life and the avoidance of disease. Safety for the kidneys lies in this program.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

A. C. R. Q.—I was troubled with rheumatism four years ago, since then my knees trouble me.

A.—An infection of some kind may be responsible. The cause must first be removed before the trouble can be cured. Applications of heat and massage are sometimes helpful.

J. D. Q.—About two years ago I was operated upon for a goitre, but I am still very nervous and my heart beat is rapid. Will this trouble ever wear off?

A.—Your nervousness will probably disappear in time. However, if your heart was permanently damaged before the operation, it will not recover.—Copyright, 1927.

Vagrant Verse.

THE MAN.

I have come over bridges of steel
Over ways where I saw great ships
And a mighty city afar;
I have come over rails where I saw
The meadows of July
With myriads of rooted things
Flashing each a shining eye;
And I saw the sky.

Now I come to you, O child,
Here by the town where the train moves slow,
And you stare by the wayside grass.
You, in the dark-haired woman's arms,
Held up in the bottom-tall grass
That your wide, wide eyes may see
The iron servant pass.

And do you read by my face
You have wakened me from my dream
Of the strength of bridges and rails,
The hugeness of cities and ships,
The wide existence of fields—
Do you give me a glance
Grown sudden majestic, O child,
As the heavy trucks clang by?

There on the woman's breast,
You, held up out of the grass,
Are the mightiest thing I have seen!

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Do the royalties to the government under the mineral leasing policy go into the federal treasury? E. L. S.

A. This is an erroneous impression which many have. Under the present laws 37½ per cent. of the royalties and five per cent. of the net proceeds from sales of public lands are turned back to the state government in which these lands are located. Fifty-two and a half per cent. of the royalties and approximately sixty per cent. of the receipts from the disposal of public lands are directed to the reclamation fund to be used in the West. Only ten per cent. of the royalties and about thirty-five per cent. of the land receipts revert to the United States treasury.

Q. Why are nails called two-penny, six-penny, eight-penny and so on? L. T.

A. The term "penny" as applied to nails denotes a certain arbitrary size. The expression originated in the fifteenth century, at that time designating the price of nails per hundred.

Q. Did any Jewish merchants sign the protest against the stamp act? A. G. L.

A. Although no list of signers has been found of the New York agreement of merchants to make all past and future orders for British merchandise contingent on the repeal of the stamp act, it is believed that the Jewish merchants of the city of that day joined with their fellow business men. The original agreement entered into by Philadelphia merchants however shows that the leading Jews of that city were among the signers. They were Mathias Bush, David Franks, Barnard Gratz, Michael Gratz, Joseph Jacobs, Benjamin Levy, Hyman Levy, Jr., Samson Levy and Moses Mordecai.

Q. How did the total loans and investments of national banks in September, 1925, compare to that form of resources in October 1924? R. L. S.

A. The total loans and investments on October 10, 1924—8,074 national banks—amounted to $17,844,286,000; on September 28, 1925—8,085 national banks—amounted to $19,105,089,000. The resources of 8,085 national banks, September 28, 1925, amounted to $24,560,257,000 and exceeded the resources of 8,074 banks, October 10, 1924, by $1,216,466,000.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Do not be too cast down over your failures. The first thing is to forgive yourself. Check off the failures. They belong to the yesterdays that are gone. By brooding over your errors you only impair yourself and make yourself less able to cope with the struggles ahead.

There are men known to all of us who have achieved a reputation for determination and persistence. Know them better and you find they do not deserve as much credit as they at first seem to. Their persistence is sometimes only a stubborn determination not to admit they are wrong, after they know it themselves. Their determination — what seems their strength—may be a sort of bull-headedness that keeps them on the wrong track. It takes as much courage and intelligence to know when to quit as to know when to go on.

Worrying about the miracles of the past has precipitated many a hard theological argument. Better stop fussing about Bible miracles and think about the miracles that brains mixed with industry can perform today. And think about the miracles that have already been brought about by man's genius. Yesterday the writer talked with a newspaper editor in England over the telephone. What ground has any sensible man for doubting anything? Henry Ford proposes to pack a year's farm work into twenty days. Machinery and efficiency will perform a miracle.

A Georgia couple has had twenty-nine children. Nineteen are living. That is not much to boast about. But if they are able to give all those children a good education, to make sound citizens out of them—that is something to boast about.

One of the hopeful signs of the times is the independence of young people who do not have to be independent. The daughter of the great Russian singer, Chaliapin, has gone to work as a saleslgirl in a New York store. She can have every advantage that wealth brings. She prefers to make her own career and she likes business. As long as young people have impulses like that the world is going to go on very nicely.

For a moment he glared at her balefully, then:

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The Scotchman has had quite a rest in this series, and I think we'd better put him to work again. Once in a while I get so lonesome for Scotch stories that I ask some guy to tell me one. And then you know I'm pretty tired, because generally I hit fellows that try to tell me stories of any kind. Well, a guy told me a Scotch story, and it's so sad that I think it'll do for the worst one today.

Says Mrs. MacGregor:

"Sandy, it's the lad's birthday."

"So 'tis," says Sandy. "An' we'll have to be givin' him a present, you mean."

"Ay, ay."

"What did he get last birthday?"

"A balloon, Sandy, diuna ye ken?"

"Oh, ay, a balloon. Bring it to me, an' I'll blow it up for the lad an' make him happy!"

Favors Entering the League.

Editor Star—I was interested in the article published on the editorial page of the Star, on February 9, entitled "We Fell Down on the Job."

An American citizen, if at all thoughtful, can not help but feel deeply chagrined and concerned if "virtually every nation in Europe hates the United States."

Why?

Elihu Root — certainly an American whose thoughtful, wise conclusions command attention—recently shed light as to the reason for this feeling, which you may not have noticed.

We boastingly call ourselves a "Christian nation" —what is it to be a "Christian" but to try and follow the Golden Rule of Christ? And if we feel our democracy is the best form of government, what had we to fear in joining the League, to help other nations in thinking likewise?

Mrs. L. P. Brock.

Insurance Against Punishment.

It probably will always be a question whether the easier way to be vindicated in the most triumphant manner when accused of moral turpitude is to be a star baseball player with a batting average of .300 or a fundamentalist preacher with a similar standing in the pulpit-pounding and hell's-fire percentage column.—Ohio State Journal.

New York Day by Day.

New York, Feb. 14.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Early up and had high words with the waiter over my breakfast and so foolishly upset I could not eat and so to Seventy-Second street and out upon Riverside drive. Then down broadway atop an omnibus, still pouting.

And stopped to look at mail sorters in the postoffice sub station—a work which somehow fascinates me. Going to the Colony I was joined by Ray Long and Frazier Hunt, and we matched coins to see who would pay the score and with ill luck I lost, and how those sluts did eat.

Home and worked until Gil Patten, who used to write Frank Merriwell novels, came and we played indifferently at billiards, but talked of this and that especially being in accord as a gentleman was always a gentleman even when fixed. So home to bed.

A chorine returned from a tour to meet her girl friend with whom she formerly lived. After her absence the friend had become haughty and up-townish, with a drawling broad A, and a lorgnette. After listening for a long time, the returning trooper inquired: "How long have you been yachting?".

There is a type of Broadway girl one rarely finds outside that district. She has a brittle cynicism and a wise cracking manner of turning pleasant talk into stinging verbal thrusts. In this way she glosses over the hollow mockery of hard living. Her voice is a trifle husky from gin and cigarets, her hair hennaed and her lips and cheeks over bright. Her particular boy friend is an Eddie or Joe who is usually reached by telephone at a pool-room. Most of them under the aloof surface are generous-hearted. In fact they have reached their present state, largely through generosity of one kind and another. Under stimulation the veneer of hardness cracks and they are likely to sob over a mother song or tear-jerking poem. They are the girls who so mysteriously vanish from Broadway without leaving a single trace. They differ from the gold digger and usually waste their love on worthless men. And disappear.

Nor is any one taking very seriously the effete effort to revive the derby. Idea comes from London where the bowler has always been more or less popular. It strikes me the ultimate in masculine bravery is to wear a pea white derby.

A big-hearted Rupert told two Lorelels to make themselves entirely at home in his bachelor apartment while he went to the theater. Among the charges on his bill were: New dress parlor, eight dollars; dinner, $14; manicure shop, four dollers; telephone calls to Hollywood and Chicago, $29; florist, $24; cash, $10; cigarets, three dollars, and newstand, $1. A pleasant evening was had by all.

There are, I am told, some New York hosts who are making $15,000 a year furnishing guests with liquor. It must be a dull business to carry pitchers of ice-water on the side for a dime and try to act cheerful.—Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Thursday.

Plans were forming for the indictment of Captain McVay, of the Larchmont, from which only nineteen of the 150 to 200 passengers, mostly children escaped, when the liner came into collision with a schooner and she soon sank. The charge of cowardice was openly made.

Senator Knox spoke in defense of Reed Smoot holding that the senate had no right to unseat him because he was a Mormon.

Brooklyn, lower Manhattan and Jersey City were shaken when 25,000 barrels of oil exploded at the Standard works at Constable Hook.

The county commissioners let the contract for the Brundige bridge across the Whetstone about a mile south of Waldo to the General Concrete and Construction company, of Colton, for $4,899.

A receiver was asked for the Marion Pump and Supply company by Thomas J. Woodrow.

The Star told of a big horse sale conducted by Charles A. Mounette at the Crow barn today before.

The Star reported the marriage, the day before, of Miss Sarah Cook and Mr. Louis Stiffler at LaRue, by Rev. Mr. Haywood, of that place.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fogleson.

Miss Gail Everett fell on the slippery pavement on west Center street and was rendered unconscious.

The Star reported that the large barn on the farm of David Wyatt, a mile west of Waldo, was destroyed by fire the night before entailing a loss of $2,500. Five cows and three horses were burned up.

Preparations were being made to finish the artificial lake at the South End park and make one at the North End park.

M. Q. Chase and W. H. Holverstott left for Tillberry, Ontario, to look after their oil interests there.

Comic valentines were growing unpopular, very few being sold in the city.

Marion was suffering an epidemic of grip.

Marion Pathfinders enjoyed a big social affair.

Miss Goldie Wires and Mr. Charles Miller were married by Rev. D. H. Bailey.

Waldo was preparing to organize a grange.

Today's Events.

Monday, February 14, 1927.

Today is St. Valentine's day, dedicated to all true lovers.

Arizona is celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of her statehood.

Dr. William W. Folwell, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota, today entered upon his ninety-fifth year.

Negotiations of a new wage scale for the bituminous miners were begun at Miami, Florida, today between committees representing the miners and mine operators.

David W. Brunton, pioneer Colorado mining engineer, today was the first recipient of the Saunders medal, to be awarded annually by the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers to the man who has made the most outstanding contribution to the advancement of his science.

Who's Who and Why.

ALBERT C. RITCHIE.

Albert C. Ritchie is now serving his second term as governor of Maryland. By profession he is an attorney and during the four years from 1916 to 1920 served as the state's attorney general. Governor Ritchie was for thirteen years professor of law at the University of Maryland and he has acted as general counsel for the war industries board and the public service commission. He is a Democrat and has attended two national conventions of the Democratic party as delegate-at-large. He was born in Richmond, Virginia, August 29, 1876.

MT. GILEAD HIGH CAGER SUFFERS FRACTURED LEG

Loss of Dependable Forward Lessens Chances For Championship Team

Mt. Gilead, Feb. 14—Mt. Gilead's hopes of retaining the county basketball championship, which must be defended at the tournament Friday and Saturday of next week, received a severe jolt when Bob White, fast and dependable forward, sustained a broken leg in the game with Crestline Friday night.

An X-ray taken immediately after the game revealed that both bones in the left leg were cracked, one above the knee and one below. Medical attention was administered by Dr. Richards and the knee is now in a cast. It is expected that he will wear the cast at least four weeks.

The accident, it is thought, was caused by the defective condition of the floor in the gym.

The loss of White will seriously weaken Mt. Gilead's chances of retaining the championship. The local school has won the coveted cup four of the five years the tournament has been held.

Cardington is the only team in the county that has so far presented a challenge. Mt. Gilead lost to Cardington by two points early in the season but trounced them at Levering Hall a week ago. Hence, local fans felt confident that the Purple would again rise to the occasion and take the championship.

However, they are not at all sure now. Another feature that may militate against the locals is the decision of the athletic committee to hold the first day of the tournament at the Cardington high school gym. Should Mt. Gilead draw Cardington the first day, which is altogether possible, the locals will have that added handicap to overcome.

An idea of Mt. Gilead's chances may be derived from the game with Cardington this week. This will be the last game of the season and probably the classic of the schedule. A large crowd is expected. If the local's revamped line-up succeeds in holding Cardington to a low score or even beating them, admittedly they will have a chance in the tournament.

Kirkpatrick Congregation to Send Rooster to Bishop

A BLUE Andalusian rooster which figured prominently in activities at the Kirkpatrick Methodist Church recently will be sent to Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati, with the compliments of that church, it became known today.

This particular rooster has a history. Prior to the Lincoln day banquet at the Kirkpatrick Methodist Church this rooster was presented to the pastor of the church, Rev. L. S. Green by G. W. Egger, a member of the congregation. It was stipulated that the rooster was to be presented to the person turning in the largest number of pennies for the Methodist fund for the descendants of Lincoln in Kentucky.

Egger turned in 141 pennies, the largest number, and the rooster was returned to him. It was then put up at auction and the price was run up to $13.50. The buyer then instructed Reverend Green to send the rooster to Bishop Henderson.

A total of $57 was raised for the fund.

DR. JOHN B. KRING IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Services for Well Known Galion Man Held This Afternoon

Galion, Feb. 14—Funeral services for Dr. John B. Kring were held from the home north of the city this afternoon and were in charge of Rev. S. A. Stephan. Burial followed immediately in Fairview.

Dr. Kring died early Saturday following a stroke of apoplexy suffered early in the week. Dr. Kring has been in ill health for some time so that he had given up his practice as throat specialist at which profession he had won decided distinction.

Dr. Kring who was formerly from Mt. Vernon has been a Galion resident for a number of years and in 1897 was married to Miss Alice Smith of this city. Kring was a successful physician and served in the medical corps during the war receiving the commission of first lieutenant.

Surviving are the widow two brothers and two sisters Edward Kring, Frank Kring, Mrs. Albert Aisdorf and Mrs. J. R. Hall all of Mt. Vernon.

Dr. Kring was a life long member of the First M. E. Church and a member of the Masonic lodge.

Never any sour risings, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion or gassiness.
You'll not say "I wish I hadn't eaten that," as no matter what you eat Diapepsin braces the weakest stomach right up; meals set snugly, you feel comfortable, satisfied and get real strength and new blood from every meal you eat.
Get a 60 cent package today at any drug store of Pape's Diapepsin; then eat pie, cheese, cream, fried meat or anything set before you. Remember that good food and good digestion is your sole source of health.—Adv.

Constipation Bars You from success
To win in life's work you must be at your best, unhampered by dull headaches and dragging pain. You must have health. And you cannot be healthy unless your bowels are healthy, too.
Don't fear constipation, for new permanent relief is to be had. A new, and delightful corrective performs the three essential functions of relieving, cleansing and rebuilding. Without these there can be no cure.
Normal bowel movements are restored with overnight promptness. Natural methods are used. Not harshly irritating ones. Then colon lazy walls are cleansed. All the foul "grunt" is melted away. Absolute freedom from irritation and strain gives abused muscles a chance to rebuild, to regain their strength.
This new-day corrective, Jam-O-Lax, performs these three vital functions definitely and surely. Nature is given a chance. Normal conditions are soon restored.
In Jam-O-Lax the corrective elements are blended with the finest of fruits and oils. It comes to you as a tasty jam—equally good by the spoonful or as a spread on crackers.
Delightful to take, positive in action, this triple function corrective is the answer of science to your demand for a corrective that will overcome constipation.
Learn what this perfected corrective means to you and yours. Avoid imitations of this eminent. At all druggists.

Sending Valentine Simple Matter Now; Made by Hand for Great-Grandfather

SENDING one's love a Valentine now is a much simpler task what lover would call it so?) than it was a century or more ago. Today the young swain walks into the nearest stationery shop and selects from the hundreds on display.

Frequently he chooses to send his sweetheart candy or flowers rather than attempt to find a valentine suitably inscribed.

In the time of our great-grandmothers and grandfathers, valentines were made by hand and the lover laboriously composed verses which he penned upon colored paper with gold ink. As the practice grew in popularity some resourceful souls published books of suitable verses to be used by the less gifted.

One of the oldest known books of this time of which a copy exists today was published 117 years ago. It is Newmish's Annual, a 48-page paper-covered guide to love making. Others which came later were "Cupid's Cabinet, or Lover's Pastime," "Cupid's Annual Charter or Valentine Festival," "The Gentleman's Polite Valentine Writer," "The Lover's Companion or Valentines for Trades."

Verses to Order

These books were pored over until 1812, when the commercial manufacture of the missives had begun. For a small sum one could have verses written to order. Also, two sets of poems were prepared for the damsels who received these tender notes. One, looking favorably on the suit of the sender, the other cruel and cutting for the unhappy youth who had not gained his lady's favor.

Comic valentines were also popular at this time. Cruikshank, one of England's leading cartoonists during the Victorian era, made many of this variety. They were inscribed "To A Conceited Fop," "To An Ugly Old Maid" and like titles.

Some of the most beautiful American valentines were made in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. They were handsomely embossed. Some were framed in a small glass box, the corners of which were painted in different colors and bound with gilt paper or ribbon.

Comics did not appear in this country until somewhat later than on the continent. They reached the peak of their popularity during the eighties and the nineties and have continued to decline since that time until at present stationers say there is scarcely any demand for them.

During the eighteenth century the custom of sending valentines on the 14th of February became so popular that postal authorities had to hire additional clerks to handle the volume of mail. Then a decline set in and Valentine's Day ceased to occupy so important a place in the calendar.

In recent years there has been a revival of interest, but sending a Valentine is not the serious business it was at first. The youthful gallant sends many such tokens of his affections to his feminine acquaintances and "Be My Valentine" is no longer the equivalent of a proposal of marriage.

KENTON CAGERS DEFEAT JACKSON, MICH., TEAM

Kenton, Feb. 14—Kenton's New York Central Athletic Association basketball team continued to play in championship form here Saturday night when they turned the tables on Jackson, Mich., shop cagers winning by a score of 37 to 33.

Several weeks ago the locals were defeated at Jackson by the same quintet after a hard battle. Saturday night's game found the locals putting forth their best brand of ball showing some real team work.

WOOD-CUTTING BEE

Marysville, Feb. 14—An old-fashioned wood-cutting bee was staged by the men of Trinity Lutheran Church at the Stillings Wood, near Irwin, this afternoon. All wood that was cut will be used as fuel in the church, school, pastor's and school principal's residence, reported.

ARRANGE FOR CAGE TOURNEY AT MARYSVILLE

High Schools of County System To Complete for Honors

Marysville, Feb. 14—The annual Union County basketball tournament of all the high schools in the county system, will be held in the local armory, on Feb. 19 and 20. Marysville will not participate in the tournament this year.

Plans and arrangements for the tournament are in charge of a committee of which A. P. Russell, of Raymond, is chairman. The committee met in County Superintendent J. A. Tooley's office on Saturday morning for the purpose of completing arrangements and drawing.

Drawings

In the drawing which was made by the representatives of the different schools the following play combinations resulted: (1) Darby vs. Dyhalls; (2) Irwin vs. Raymond; (3) Dover vs. Pharisburg; (4) Broadway vs. Milford Center; (5) Allen Center vs. Cally; (6) Richwood vs. Magnetic Springs. York drew a bye and will play the winner of the Darby-Dyhalls fray in the second round of the tournament. Watkins also drew a bye and will play the winner of the Broadway-Milford fray.

Other games of the second round will be between the winners of the Irwin-Raymond and the Dover-Pharisburg games; next between the winners of the Allen Center-Cally and Richwood-Magnetic game. This will leave four teams to compete for the final honors on the last day of the tournament.

The referees for the tournament have been selected as follows: L. N. Drake, assistant principal of Pilgrim Junior High School, Columbus; and O. L. Smith, of the athletic department of Ohio Northern University at Ada. Both of these referees come on recommendation of H. R. Townsend, state athletic director.

Girls Division

In the girls' division the following drawings were made for games: (1) Cally vs. No Dover; (2) Dyhalls vs. Magnetic Springs; (3) Watkins vs. Allen Center; (4) Raymond vs. Milford Center; (5) Pharisburg vs. Dover; (6) Richwood vs. Irwin.

York drew a bye and will play the winner of the Cally-Dover match. Broadway also drew a bye and will contest in the second round with the winner of the Raymond-Milford match.

Other games of the second round will be between the winners of the following matches: Dyhalls-Magnetic vs. Watkins-Allen Center; and Pharisburg-Darby vs. Richwood-Irwin. This will again leave four teams to compete for the final honors on the last day of the tournament.

The referees for the tournament have been selected as follows: L. N. Drake, assistant principal of Pilgrim Junior High School, Columbus; and O. L. Smith, of the athletic department of Ohio Northern University at Ada. Both of these referees come on recommendation of H. R. Townsend, state athletic director.

ICY PAVINGS RESULT IN ACCIDENTS AT BUCYRUS

Bucyrus, Feb. 14—The slippery and icy streets and roads here have caused many accidents. It was reported late that six automobiles were in the ditch at one time on the Cleveland road west of Bucyrus. Local wreckers were busy all night. No serious accidents were reported.

THREE SERVICES

Rev. W. R. Howard Fills Pulpit in Revivals at United Brethren Church

Three well-attended services were held at First United Brethren Church yesterday in connection with a revival now in progress there. Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor, preached last night on the subject, "That Marvelous Change," taken from St. Peter 2 and 9. "True religion not only amends but entirely changes the character of a man," Rev. Howard said, "for sin is the work of darkness, the devil the prince of darkness, and the way of the wicked is darkness. Dark in the beginning, darker in the course of life and eternal darkness at life's end. One day a man will take God's name in vain and a second day he will praise Him. What is the matter with the fellow? He has felt the marvelous change and he tells it to the world not only with his lips but with his life.

A service for women and girls only was held in the afternoon, at which time Rev. Howard spoke on the subject, "Ashamed of Jesus." He drew two pictures of the kingdom of the Lord, one of the saved and one of the unsaved. "All persons who may enter heaven will enjoy as much blissfulness as he is capable of," Rev. Howard said.

"That Important Question — Dost Thou Believe in the Son of God" was the subject of Reverend Howard's sermon at the morning service. "If we believe in the Son of God, we shall remember the means by which we are brought to this happy state," he said, "it is love coupled with duty that impels us to do right and do it cheerfully."

EPSOM SALTS LIKE LEMONADE

Made Pleasant with Grape and Lemon Acids

A tablespoonful of "Epsonade Salts" in a glass of cold water, the next time you feel constipated, bilious or headachy will give you all the perfect action on the bowels of a dose of plain Epsom Salts but without the awful taste and nausea. Takes before any meal, it acts in an hour.

Ask for "Epsonade Salts" which costs only a few cents a package at any druggists. Even children gladly take this wonderful discovery of The American Epsom Assn.—Adv.

FINE SPORTS FROCK IS FASHIONED FROM NEW SILK FABRICS

The pretty little sports frock pictured is fashioned of a new silk dress fabric called "Cameole." It has a face of one color and back of another, but is a single piece of goods. It has been evolved through a new system of weaving and dyeing.

A single piece of material was used for the dress, making both trimming and lining. The colors used are gold and old rose, the banding of the contrasting shade being unique.

HEAR EVANGELIST

Rev. H. C. Gillespie Addresses Students of Sunday School

Rev. H. C. Gillespie, pastor of the Wilmington, O., Baptist Church, who is conducting evangelistic services at Trinity Baptist Church, addressed students of the Sunday School department at the session yesterday morning on the subject the "Importance of Cooperation and Personal Magnetism."

The school is attempting to gain a regular attendance of 500 students, 300 having been present at yesterday's session.

A meeting of the Teachers and Officers Council will be held following the evangelistic service at the church tonight.

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see your yourself.

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR MANY YEARS

Got relief at last with simple home treatment

A martyr to rheumatism for almost a lifetime, a man from Wyocena, Wis., writes that he can always get relief with a simple home treatment.

"As a man of seventy, for years a sufferer from rheumatism, I want to give my recommendation for Sloan's Liniment," he says. "It is a fine remedy and will do all that is claimed for it."

Sloan's has been the standby of rheumatic sufferers for years because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It helps the body to throw off the germs and poisons that cause the trouble by speeding up the circulation right in the affected spots.

Apply a little lightly, without rubbing. Immediately you feel a warm glow of comfort. Stiff joints and muscles limber up. The aching stops and soon you are completely free from pain. Get a bottle today; all druggists—35 cents.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

At last he had finished his disquisition. The last paper was laid in its appointed place in a stout leather portfolio on the desk in front of him, and he leaned back with the air of a man who has finished a laborious but necessary task.

"All complete now," he said. "Report on full activities of organization now ready for fifteenth annual meeting. This year convenient dividends for all. I managing director. Make very satisfactory report. Results most gratifying and well repay strenuous labors of past."

He crossed his legs and lighted a cigarette.

I went straight to the point which was beginning to take first place in my mind.

"Why have you told me all this?" I asked.

The Center's eyes smoldered at me through the tenuous blue smoke of his cigarette. Then his mouth opened in the inevitable smile.

"Honorable custom of Japan," he replied, "to amuse honorable guest who condescends take interest in humble concerns of unworthy host."

"Do you imagine," I said, "that I shall ever become a party to your infamous trade? I shall denounce you at the first opportunity."

"I know very well that," he said quietly. "Yes. I quite appreciate upright character of honorable guest. He go straight to police, when he get away. I very sorry obliged to restrict honorable movements of upright American gentleman. But Japanese nation always polite. Regret inconvenience to intelligent and honest person and endeavor to find suitable pastime. He come to my private office, read many private papers. Japanese host enter at critical moment. So Japanese host stand whisky-soda and politely stimulate interest in good work, 'put him wise,' as is expression in United States. Necessary now forever keep firm eye on honorable guest in view of possible verbal indiscretions. Cannot afford to run risk of inconvenience arising out of remarks of clever, unsympathetic, American banker."

"What do you propose to do?" I cried.

"Request you stay as before with other patients," he said.

I rose from my chair and he looked at me steadily.

"Do I anticipate onslaught of honorable and very powerful guest? He very headstrong man. Advise him look at antique cabinet beside him."

I turned my eyes in the direction which he indicated. A tall cabinet or press stood close to my left hand. Its two long doors were fantastically carved by some medieval craftsman of the fifteenth century. The scene represented "The Last Judgment." Heaven with Christ enthroned, surrounded by the elect, was depicted in the upper part, and in the lower part hell was represented by a huge grinning monster with wide-open jaws swallowing the damned. In the center was carved a great Michael holding the scales, his face severe and majestic. His right hand, which should in accordance with the conventions of medieval art, have held a sword, was not visible, the place being taken by a large inverted keyhole, a long narrow slot ending in a circular hole evidently designed to receive a large key. As I looked at the slot, I saw behind it the gleam of an eye, and at the same instant became aware of the glint of a pistol barrel. The muzzle touched the hole in the door of the press and pointed, when I sat facing the Center, straight at the small of my back. As I looked, a soft sentence in Japanese was hissed from the aperture. A sign from the little Japanese and I was a dead man.

"Mention was made," continued the Center, after I had sufficiently inspected the press, "of bringing compelled visit to end after fifteenth. Fear this now quite impossible. You learned too much, Mr. Quexter. I told too much. You will accordingly remain here to end of story."

He paused an instant before pronouncing the last word, which he spoke with a quiet malicious emphasis.

I was pretty desperate by then, though not yet down and out.

"That's fine," I replied. "But what about my friends? What about the bank I serve. You don't imagine they will allow me to disappear without making inquiries, do you?"

"They not make inquiries much," he answered, taking several sheets of paper covered with typewriting from a drawer. "Not when they receive satisfactory explanations."

Upon this he handed me the following letter typed on headed paper:

Klinik Edelweiss,
Hertelbach in der Nähe von
Basel.

Illustris
Dr. Jeannes Kuntz.

I read this document in amazement.

Dear Merridick, (Merridick was the name of my chief at the Bank) I am sending this to tell you that it will be impossible, I fear, for me to return at the end of my leave. I have suddenly been struck down by an acute attack of appendicitis, was rushed here in an ambulance, and am to be operated upon tomorrow. Please do not be in the least concerned about me. I am in excellent hands and am receiving every attention though it will naturally be some weeks before I shall be about again.

I will let you know the result of the operation as soon as I can.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT W. QUEXTER.

I read this document in amazement. It was just such a letter as I would have written had the circumstances described in it actually taken place. My signature was entirely correct, so much so that I could have sworn it to be genuine had I not known that it was a forgery.

I glanced at the other papers. They were both letters to the bank from Doctor Kuntz, the first stating that the operation had been successful, but that the patient was very weak, the second, dated some days later, that I was slightly better, and was progressing as well as could be expected.

"Those settle immediate inquiries," remarked the Center. "Deal with future ones by other means."

I looked at him in silence. I could find no words. I recognized now that he had me beat.

Women Like

The easy-disposal feature of this new hygienic help —no laundry, just discard

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

IN a new way, women now are freed of the disadvantages of old-time "sanitary pads." Protection is greater. The old embarrassment of disposal and laundry is avoided.

Get Kotex—6 in 10 better-class women have adopted it.

✔ Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus ends all danger of offending.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

TIMES PICKING UP; ABLE BODIED PEOPLE WANTED

Surely business is picking up because able bodied people are wanted everywhere. But there is no room for those who are sickly. Peppen, which is Nature's greatest system tonic has restored good health to thousands.

J. H. Daugherty, 342 E. Morgan St., Kokomo, Ind. writes "I felt weak and tired and my food didn't digest right. I couldn't sleep good and get up in the morning with a headache.

"I started to taking Peppen and now I feel better and stronger in every way. I get up with a clear head after a good night's sleep and I can do more work and not be half as tired. Peppen also regulated my bowels."

If you don't feel well try Peppen. It has helped others and you may confidently expect it to do the same for you. Sold by Bradley's Drug Store, Marion, Ohio, and other well stocked drug stores everywhere.—Adv.

HOW TO RESTORE LOST APPETITE

And Build Firm, Solid Flesh, And Renew Vitality

Thousands of men and women lack appetite and are "finicky" about what they eat and so find their energy and vigor slipping away. Thousands of other men and women eat heartily, even to the point of "stuffing" yet they remain thin and can't seem to get any "pep."

Such conditions are due to faulty nutritive processes. Lack of stimulation to the mouth and stomach glands is the real cause. We all need better digestion of our food. Scientists are telling us about this as announced nearly every day in the newspapers and medical journals.

If your appetite is poor or if you eat a lot and you still remain thin and lacking in vitality, try this—a good stimulant three times a day with your meals. You will be satisfied with the improvement and results will come quickly.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and appetite back of energy.—Adv.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

KATHERINE'S acquiescence to my little signal concerning Junior's request was prompt. Indeed, I knew that it was one which she readily would have granted save for her fear that doing so might interfere with my work.

"Of course, you may take your nap on Mother's bed, if you wish, sweetheart," she said, and my small son scrambled down from my arms, and seizing me by the hand started eagerly in the direction of my room.

"And a story," he demanded with the insatiable tyranny of a child granted one request.

"A very short one." I conceded. Then added firmly, "But you must not expect me to stay with you until you are asleep. I will lie down with you, cuddle you close and tell you the story, and then you must be a good boy and go to sleep by yourself, for mother is very busy. Will you promise?"

He looked at me, cannily, estimating the strength of my determination, then surrendered.

"Yes, I'll promise," he said doubtfully, then gave a deep sigh.

"When won't you be so busy?" he asked.

Unaccountably, I felt my cheeks burning, and was glad that we had reached my own room with a closed door between us and the others, dear as they all were to me, I realized, of course, that the query was one common to children, one which if heeded literally would make slaves of all mothers, with no resultant good to the children. I had been harassed, drudging women, worn by the struggle to keep up their housework, and at the same time answer every teasing demand upon their time, made by irritable, undisciplined children. But I knew that I did not belong in their ranks, that my problem was an entirely different one, and that my little lad's query might well represent a real need.

Not for the first time there rushed over me the old doubt, the bitter self-questioning which had been mine I first planned the arrangement which would turn Junior over to Katherine's care for a year. It was not that I doubted her ability or her performance. Both were perfect and my small son was thriving mentally and physically under her wise and kindly regime. But except for the hour of cuddling and story-telling at his bedtime, which I religiously kept for him, and which he appeared to prize above all things, I rarely saw him and then only for the briefest of intervals.

I had felt in the days before the opportunity of work with Philip Veritzen came to me that I was in a state of mental stagnation, and that remunerative work of some kind outside my home was my only salvation. Lillian had bolstered my determination with her declaration that Dicky was regarding me as he might a comfortable old pair of shoes, and her advice to find a place for myself in the economic world which should open his eyes. Philip Veritzen's offer had seemed like a Heaven-sent opportunity, and when I found that Katherine was available for Junior's care, I gladly had rushed into my new found work with enthusiasm and success. But—was it a success too dearly bought? Was I sacrificing to it precious hours with my son that never, never, never could be returned to me?

With a strenuous effort, aided by the practical reflection that as I had committed myself to my work for a year, there was nothing to do now but to make the best of it, I banished my troublesome thoughts, and after preparing Junior for his nap, I lay down by his side, and gave myself up to the delight of cuddling his small body close to me while I told him the story for which he had asked. I saw that he was sleepy from the outdoor air, and followed the tale with a crooning song which soon sent him into slumber. My heart was light with the thought that I had been able to grant his request after all, and I returned to the living room with the determination that somehow, someway, I would see more of my idolized little son.

No matter what causes it; exposure, colds or irritation from dust and smoking—a cough is a signal that the throat tissues are inflamed and may quickly become breeding places for myriads of germs that lurk in the mucus. If this infection spreads, serious consequences will result.

Get rid of that cough right now before it "settles" in the "danger zone". Take PERTUSSIN at once.

It loosens up congestion promptly, and by stimulating expectoration, helps to rid you of stinky, germ-laden phlegm that clogs the air passages.

PERTUSSIN is a simple herbal remedy—pleasant to take. Free from "dope", and has been prescribed by physicians for 20 years.

If your cough has already settled in the "danger zone", you should see your Doctor.

After the "Flu" is Over ---you need a Tonic

Help Is Needed to Restore Your Wasted Strength and Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and rundown. In such cases, a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling.

"Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the disease itself. In other words, after an attack of the "flu," you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S. S. S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the process by which the body is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S. S. S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with a two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

McCarthy Conservative
Mr. English
Hollocher Busy
Poor Old Strib

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

JOE McCARTHY, Cub manager, is one of the most conservative managers in the big time. Despite the fact that Owner Bill Wrigley of the Cubs has told McCarthy repeatedly to "shoot the works" to get pennant winning material Louisville Joe has stepped into big money but once to land a new player since he took charge of the Cub team.

The one man whom McCarthy has counted worth a big price is Elwood English, an infielder, bought from Toledo for $50,000.

NORMAN E. BROWN

The purchase of English, however, is a very significant one, in addition to indicating the value McCarthy places on him. For his acquisition by the Cubs indicates clearly that the club bosses have given up all hope of Charley Hollocher's return to the team after a three-years' absence.

ENGLISH KNOWS HIS SHORTSTOPPING

But to get back to Mr. English.

He hails from Granville, O., and boasts of 19 years of age. With the Toledo club last season he played in 162 games at shortstop, batted .301 and ranked second among the regular shortstops in fielding, with a percentage of .948. Filippin of Milwaukee was the only man to top him.

HOLLOCHER IS BUSY LANDLORD

Hollocher's case is interesting and a bit mysterious. He complained of a stomach ailment at the time he left the club and has claimed ever since that his condition would not permit his return. At the same time there was a general feeling that a more lucrative contract would have lured him back until last year at least. He lives in St. Louis and derives his income mainly from apartment properties there.

IT'S JUST ABOUT GOODBYE

To a man up a lytic tree it would look as though Young Stribling, Georgia heavy, is as far on the high road of pugilism as he ever will be. His unconvincing victory over Sailor Huffman the other night would indicate that.

Stribling was supposed to be in tip-top shape as a result of forsaking the light heavy ranks that he might fight at his natural weight, unhampered by a drying out process.

Huffman's record was unimpressive. He had been licked a couple of times by Tiger Flowers, once by Johnny Risko of Cleveland, and once by Jack Sharkey. Yet Stribling had his hands full administering a beating to the Sailor person.

Stribling will get one or two good fights in the east in the belief that he has not yet found himself at the new weight. But I personally believe he has reached his level.

C., D. & M. QUINT TO CLASH WITH COMMERCIALS

Service Meets Osgoods and Fairfields Tie Up with Collegians

THREE games, unexcelled in basketball entertainment, featuring the Commercial C., D. & M. battle, will be staged in the Star auditorium tonight during the twelfth round of the Marion Industrial Basketball League.

Probably never before has a trio of contests like those scheduled tonight ever been played in the Star auditorium of elsewhere in Marion. The Commercial tilt comes last on the program. Railway Service and Osgoods will open the festivities. Fairfield Engineers and Marion Business College will continue the fun in the second clash.

While the first two frays are not to be sneezed at, the greatest interest of basketball fans centers on the final skirmish. It will be a fight to the finish with first one team on top and then the other. Commercials are determined to whip the C., D. & M. and the C., D. & M. is determined not to be whipped. What will happen? Now take another guess.

Toss-up For Winner

It's a toss-up to decide the winner of the classic of the Industrial league. Commercials have been showing excellent form during the last few games and have suffered but two league defeats. The C., D. & M. has not been going quite as well during the latter part of the season but it's been stepping along too fast for any team to catch up. The Electricians have won nine consecutive games and have as yet seen no defeats chalked up against them.

The second game of the night will see in action two of the losing teams of the league that have suddenly come to life again. The Fairfield Engineers will stack up against the Marion Business College quintet. Engineers lost consistently until the last two games when they showed some pep and come through with a punch. Two weeks ago they almost knocked down the league leading C., D. & M. crew and last week they smacked the Osgoods for a 25 to 11 win. Marion Business College has shown much improvement during the last two weeks with the addition of Wainfor of Prospect to the lineup. Last week the Collegians romped over the Railway Service five for a victory.

Osgood vs. Service

And then, first on the program tonight we have the Railway Service fighting the Osgood crew. Both teams have been slightly on the decline during the last two weeks but are expected to hit their old strides tonight. The two groups of basketeers are almost evenly matched and the outcome is by no means certain.

Only two more scheduled rounds remain in the Marion Industrial League. The C., D. & & M. quintet is sitting on top and from all indications will still be perched there when the season comes to a close.

"Doc" King of Ohio Wesleyan will referee tonight. The first game is called at 7:15 o'clock in the Star auditorium.

DELAWARE HIGH TRIMS KENTON QUINTET, 45-14

Delaware, Feb. 14—Delaware High school easily defeated Kenton High school here Saturday by the score of 45 to 14. The local team used substitutions in the latter part of the game and were invincible against the visitors. The first half ended with the score of 24 to 6. Cline and Hyde, forwards on the local team, played stellar parts, getting 22 points. Garver made six points for the Kenton team.

JURY HUNG ON MALONEY AND DELANEY BOUT

Dave Walsh Says One Can Argue for or Against One's Self

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 14—It looked like a "hung" jury today on that absorbing Delaney-Maloney case, five days before the battle of the great indoors was to be carried to a slow down. In fact, the situation simply defied the boys to reach a conclusion, since the "holes" in the records of both principals made it possible to argue for or against yourself with an equal chance of collecting from one pocket and paying off in the other.

Jack Delaney is the type of fighter who will start them rolling at the turnstiles. Much of his reputation is built around his fights with Paul Berlenbach. Yet the common impression is that, for more than a year, Berlenbach hasn't been the man he used to be; as a matter of fact, some suspect that he never was.

Before I become identified as a fishmonger among a lot of tenor singers, permit me to say that I regard Jack Delaney as a great light heavyweight. But as a heavyweight contender he hasn't proved anything yet. I suppose I am damning the man with faint praise but if it be treason, make the most of it. To me, Delaney is an untried heavyweight and will so remain until Friday.

Gorman Knockout

His knockout of Bud Gorman was sensational in its effect; yet it was without particular significance, since Gorman has a chin that is as fragile as a wing glass. The Gorman fight has been Delaney's only major heavyweight engagement to date.

Therefore, throwing out all the glamor of and clamor about the man, it stands to reason that the burden of proof is yet to be furnished. You couldn't, for example, prove his ability as a heavyweight by his victories over Tiger Flower and Mike McTigue. These were impressive only for light heavyweight purposes.

Delaney's knockouts by Augie Ratner and Young Fisher may be charitably disregarded as coming before he fully developed. His bad showings with Pal Reed and Bryan Downey also can be thrown out on that ground, to say nothing of the fact that Delaney wasn't really a well man at any time before the late months of 1926.

Now for Maloney. This rather obese young man has come along from nowhere to fame in three months. He fought around Boston for some years with a reasonable success but thought so little of himself that he retired from circulation for a time. This was due partly to managerial troubles and partly to the fact that he seemed to be going nowhere with great rapidity. Once he was knocked out by one Leo Gates; on another occasion he lost to Sharkey on a foul and not so long ago he won from King Solomon on what might be called a foul tip.

That's the picture of Maloney as he was. This is the young man as he is; he stopped Arthur De Kuh, a natural canvasback; he outstepped Franz Deiner, a willing German; he won easily from Harry Persson, an unwilling Swede. That is the build up on Maloney in its entirety.

If Delaney were bigger and stronger, one might be justified in giving him the cakes right now and calling it a contest. He has proved himself a master marksman, a great one-punch hitter and a fast, clever, brainy boxer; he has proved everything, in fact, except the essential question of whether he really is a heavyweight in the first place. The party is fatheaded who says that 25-pound pull Maloney has in the weights will make little difference.

However, Delaney is a "money" fighter who is good when he has to be. Also, he has added strength and health without sacrificing speed. He is a "killer" with a right cross to the jaw but, on the other hand, the punch is virtually no good unless it lands. Maloney has a trick of carrying his left shoulder ultra-high and Delaney may be forced to do business with the body, which may not be to his advantage because of the disparity in the weights.

Some of the boys have picked their winner already but that game can be beaten off beyond all contest. I may pick mine Saturday morning.

March 22—Lutherans vs. Presbyterians; Baptists vs. Calvary; United Brethern vs. Epworth.

March 29—Baptists vs. Epworth; United Brethern vs. Lutherans; Calvary vs. Presbyterians.

WIDE UNDER FIRE

A. A. U. Holds Conference To Discuss Status of Runner

New York, Feb. 14—Although official spokesmen were reticent, it was understood today that the amateur status of Edwin Wide, Swedish conqueror of Nurmi, was under fire as a result of a conference that star had with several members of the A. A. U. foreign relations committee on Saturday. President Murray Hulbert declared the purpose of the conference was to discuss with Wide his appearance at the Knights of Columbus games, March 17, and those of the United Swedish societies the following week.

However, it was said that the real object of the meeting was to furnish reports that the K. of C. management was to turn over a block of 1,000 tickets to the United Swedish societies, the Finnish American A. C. and the Swedish American A. C. for sale to the public. Fear that Wide would benefit financially through this sale promoted official action, it was declared.

People may not die of a broken heart; they do worse; they even live on without one.

"Chick" Harley and His Robert-Lees to Oppose Shovel Five Here Tuesday

The strongest team in the Capital City Basketball League of Columbus, led by none other than Chick Harley, Ohio State's greatest all-time, all-American half in football, will oppose the Marion Steam Shovel quintet in the Shovel gym here, Tuesday night. The Robert-Lees are booked.

Among the noted basketeers who will appear here Tuesday night with the Columbus crew are Chick Pearce, of Ohio Wesleyan; Ben Dempsey of Ohio State; George Wilcoxen of Mt. Union; Red Money of Ohio Northern, and Nagel of Bliss College.

The Shovels will have their regular lineup in the run and are getting all set for the greatest battle of the season.

Harley Coming

Chick Harley needs no introduction to Marion Basketball fans. He became famous at least five years ago and has remained famous as an athlete. Harley "Chick" Pearce, formerly of Ohio Wesleyan, is also known by almost all Marion fans. Pearce plays forward. He holds the reputation of being the greatest all-round athlete in this section of the state. He holds several state track records and is as good on the hardwood floor as he is on the cinders.

Ben Dempsey is another well-known lad in this section of the state. In fact, Dempsey is very well-known in all states where a Big Ten team originates. Last year he was one of Ohio State's best forwards. He hasn't changed any, 'Nough said.

George Wilcoxen played on Mt. Union's noted three-year championship basketball team. He had plenty to do with keeping the flag. He's out of Mt. Union now and so is the championship team.

"Red" Money Too!

It is probable that few fans in this city have not heard of the famous "Red" Money of Ohio Northern. He'll be here with bells on Tuesday night. He was captain at Ohio Northern while playing on the team from that university.

Two others, Nagel of Bliss, and Bill Grolinger, who doesn't claim any alma mater, will complete the Robert-Lee squad.

The team is one of the best to oppose the Shovels this season. A few weeks ago it double the score on Capitol University at time that Capitol claimed one of the best teams in its history. It is undefeated in eight with some of the finest professional quintets of the state.

The Robert-Lees practically cinched the Capital City League title in Columbus, last Thursday, when they defeated the Reichenbachs.

It will be the only big game of the week for the Shovels here. The second Isaly-Shovel game does not come until Feb. 23. A preliminary event is scheduled for 7 o'clock with the main go getting under way at 8:15 o'clock.

CALEDONIA HIGH GIRLS READY FOR CLARIDON

Expect To Tie for First Place by Winning Game Tuesday

Caledonia, Feb. 14—The Caledonia girls' Blue and White basketball squad were priming today for their last cage league game with the Claridon girls Tuesday night on the former's floor.

By virtue of Kirkpatrick's win over the Pleasant Township girls Friday the Pleasant and Kirkpatrick quintets are in a tie for league lead, each having won four circuit games and lost one. Caledonia girls have only won three games, while losing one, and must beat Coach Stevens' outfit Tuesday, to make the affair complicated by means of a triple tie for honors.

The Claridon aggregation is a vastly different crew than the fans think. Within the past two weeks they have improved to the extent that they were able to hold Kirkpatrick to a 12-7 score on Kirk's floor, in spite of the fact that the latter easily trounced Pleasant on Pleasant's home floor, last Friday.

Caledonia, seemingly, is not satisfied with having won the eastern boys' title, but is craving for more meat, and is going to make a supreme effort to give the other teams a run for their money on the girls' title too.

The feminine contest, Tuesday will be preceded by a preliminary contest between the Caledonia and Galion Junior High boys' crew.

GAME WARDEN ISSUES WARNING ABOUT BIRDS

Any Person Having Migratory Game Birds Now Is Subject To Prosecution

Any person having in his possession wild duck, geese, or other migratory game birds in cold storage or elsewhere now will be liable to prosecution in federal court, unless the holder of such birds has a federal permit, O. H. Neimeyer, United States game warden in this territory, announced today.

It was unlawful after Jan. 31, under the regulations of the migratory treaty act, to hunt wild ducks, geese and jacksnipe in a number of southern states. In Ohio the season closed Jan. 15. Under the federal law, birds killed during the open season may be possessed for an additional period following the end of the season. This additional period came to a close in this state Thursday, Feb. 10.

The season for migratory birds is now closed in all states of this country until Sept. 15.

ROSENBLOOM VS. DELANEY

Cincinnati, Feb. 14—Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, and Jimmy Delaney, of St. Paul, middleweights, were expected to offer local fight fans one of the best pugilistic scraps that has been witnessed here for some time when they tangle in the headliner at the Music Hall here tonight.

Preceding the main go of ten rounds, Freddy Ullman, of New York, and Alex Simms, of Toledo, will participate in an eight round affair.

EXPERT SKATER

One of the most expert women skaters taking part in the competitions at St. Moritz this winter is Miss Diana Kingsmill, daughter of Rear Admiral Sir Charles Kingsmill, who was the first head of Canada's marine service.

MICHIGAN FIVE FACES CRISIS IN BIG 10 RACE

Stacks Up Against Tough Boilermakers at Lafayette Tuesday Night

Chicago, Feb. 14—University of Michigan's basketball five face the crisis of its struggle for another Big Ten championship tomorrow night when they go up against the tough Purdue Team at Lafayette.

On the result of this game hangs the hope of at least two other schools for the big Western Conference honor. They are Wisconsin, now in second place, and the Boilermakers themselves, now in third place.

If Purdue succeeds in upsetting the undefeated Wolverines, these three schools, Michigan, Wisconsin and Purdue will be deadlocked in first place, each with five victories and one defeat.

Wisconsin and Purdue bettered their positions during the last week, while Michigan was idle. The Badgers defeated Chicago Saturday night, 31 to 20, while Purdue put one in the win column during the middle of the week.

Iowa pulled the surprise of the season Saturday night by tipping over the fast going Illini, 26 to 24. Minnesota, after nine straight defeats, almost a conference record, managed to negotiate a victory Saturday defeating the other weak sister of the big ten, Northwestern, 29 to 24.

The standing:

Team	Won	Lost
Michigan	5	0
Wisconsin	5	1
Purdue	4	1
Indiana	5	2
Iowa	4	2
Illinois	3	3
Ohio State	3	3
Chicago	2	5
Minnesota	1	5
Northwestern	0	6

GAMES, THIS WEEK

Tuesday—Michigan at Purdue.
Wednesday—Northwestern at Illinois.
Saturday—Northwestern at Chicago, Indiana at Michigan, Purdue at Iowa, Wisconsin at Ohio State.

Tickets on sale at Bartlett's Drug Store.

We Thank You!!

February 3rd we advertised 41 suits taken from our regular stock to sell at $16.00. Former prices were $25 to $35.

We are pleased to announce that we sold the entire 41 suits!

Incidentally we have selected just 12 more suits from our regular stock to sell at $16.00 tomorrow. If your size happens to be here you'll save money.

We just thought you'd be interested to know how we made out on the sale.

Believe us, the confidence and esteem which the public holds this store in, is most highly prized and appreciated.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

Yesterday was Sunday, and my aut dished me up like she thought I was ding to be somebody's valentine, and ll I thought Jubilee wouldnt know when I got outside, but he did, and mped all over me, and then him and e and the bunch went to Sunday chool; and when I put the cent my mother had gave me in the collection, eebie leaned over and whispered so ud everyone could hear her: "You ught to of saved that to buy me a llentine tomorrow," and everyone nged us giggled, and she sot back in r seat and crossed her eyes and put e finger in her mouth and looked lly, and I felt that way. I was glad hen it was over, and I was out with ollee again. I bet when God put omen into the world He thought He ad better put dogs in, so as to be a mfort to the men.

Me and Jubilee snuck off after din- at before the bunch got there and ent window looking, so we could tsie pick out a valentine, and I saw e for a dollar and was going home see if maybe my grandfather would nd me two-bits more when the door pened and a man came out and was ding to lock the door after him, and I said to him, "How much is that one, cash?" And he looked at it and then he looked at me, and said to come inside, so I did and he locked the door and took it down for me to look at, and then he asted me how much I had, and when I told him he put the valentine n a box and handed it to me and said: "There's nothing half so sweet in life," and he was right. It was the sweetest one I ever saw, and when she was called up on school today and handed it out of the bunch on the teacher's desk it was the prettiest one there.

After I got home from throwing funny ones with the bunch after dark, someone chalked a square on our porch in front of the door, and bent a pin kinda curvy and stuck it through just enough of the wood to hold it so that the point came up and out again on the edge of the square toardst the street, and then knocked on our door, and I made a jump for the door and opened it and saw the white and thought it was a valentine and scooped down to grab it up, and liked to tore the end of my finger off. It sure tore deep, and my mother put some stuff that smarted on it and done it up. I am going to do somebody up too.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Uncle Wiggily hopped past a toy ore window one day, and when the ld rabbit gentleman saw what was aying there he could not help laugh- g.

"Ha! Ho! Hum!" chuckled Mr. ongears.

"What's the joke?" grunted Mr. wistytail, the fat pig gentleman who as waddling along, taking care not step on the slippery places. For if fell down Mr. Twistytail knew he ould have hard work getting on his et again. "What's the joke that you e laughing at, Uncle Wiggily?" the g wanted to know.

"I'm laughing at those comic valen- nes in the window," and Mr. Long- ars pointed his red, white and blue riped rheumatism crutch at the toy op. "Very comic valentines there! re is a picture of an old fox, his ce all swelled up with the toothache, nd—"

"Ha! Ha I see the joke now!" queaked the pig. "Asking your pardon r interrupting you, Uncle Wiggily, ow I see the joke! You are going to uy some of those comic valentines nd send one each to the Fox, the olf and the Bob Cat who have made fe so miserable for you."

"That was my idea," admitted the abbit gentleman. "When the Fox es himself with his face all swelled p with tootache—"

"Ho! Ho! what a joke it will be!" uckled the pig. "I think I'll buy me comic valentines myself and send an old bear gentleman I know who altogether too fond of sausage and ork chops. Yes, I'll do that!"

The two friends went into the toy op, where Uncle Wiggily bought ome of the worst looking comic val- ntines he could find, one for the Fox, ne for the Wolf and one for the Bob at.

"I'll slip up and leave these valen- nes on the door steps of the bad aps," said Mr. Longears to Mr. wistytail as they parted. "Oh, how rry they will be! It will make them ant to bite their own toes!"

Thinking how he would plague the ree animals who had done so much o make his life unhappy, the rabbit entleman was hurrying along when e passed another toy shop. Instead having in the window comic val- ntines, as had all the other toy shops, ere was in this one only some pretty nes.

"I guess the dear old lady cat who keeps that shop has forgotten this is Valentine's Day," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I'll hop in and tell her. She must want to sell some, but she has forgotten."

However, when he told the old lady cat about comic valentines, she mewed:

"Oh, I never put them in my win- dow! I don't sell comics. I don't like to hurt anyone's feelings with them. I only sell pretty rose valentines. I have plenty of those," and indeed she had.

"But look here," began Uncle Wig- gily, thinking of the ugly vlentines in his pocket. "Don't you believe in sending mean valentines to bad chaps that have treated you meanly? Don't you?"

"No," purred the old lady cat softly, "I don't. Sending a bad valentine to a bad chap only makes him badder, if you know what I mean, and will kind- ly excuse my queer way of speaking."

"Oh, I'll excuse you all right," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I think I will buy three of your prettiest rose val- entines. I may use them."

So he bought one rose valentine flavored with lollypops, another one flavored with popcorn balls and an- other flavored with ice cream cones. Then, outside the cat lady's shop, the rabbit gentleman tossed away his comic valentines and took out the pretty ones.

Slipping slyly up to the den of the Fox, the bunny gentleman dropped the lollypop flavored rose. At the den of the Wolf he left the popcorn ball flavored rose and at the Bob Cat's home the rabbit left the ice cream cone flavored rose valentine.

"Now we'll see what happens," said Mr. Longears hiding himself behind a hollow stump. And when the Fox went out to pick up his valentine, and smelled the lovely rose, that bad chap barked:

"Ah, this makes me feel happy. It is the first time anyone ever sent me anything but a comic valentine. To- day I am going to be good and not chase Uncle Wiggily!" The Wolf and Bob Cat said the same.

"Well, can you beat that!" mur- mured the rabbit gentleman to himself as he hopped down the hill to his hol- low stump bungalow. "Can you beat that, if you will excuse my French? The lady cat was right! I'll have one day when I don't have to watch out for the bad chaps."

Don't Risk "Flu" by Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it while "flu" germs are in the air. A cough or cold irritates the lining of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, often the lungs themselves, if neglected too long. And it is in these inflamed linings—when a cold has broken down your resistance—that the dreaded "flu" germs are quickest to find a breeding ground.

Don't just dread the "flu." Take measures to prevent it, by getting rid of a threatening cough or cold immediately—before "flu" develops.

By its powerful double action, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up coughs and colds. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting, healing warmth. Quick- and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medi- cine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, breaks up the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

If "flu" has developed call your doctor. If it has not developed, but you have a threatening cough or cold, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your throat, bron- chial tubes and lungs healthy and strong. At all druggists, 60c, twice as much, $1.00.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County Ohio.
In Re The First Reformed Church of Marion, Ohio.

To all whom it may concern:
Notice is hereby given that The First Reformed Church of Marion, Ohio, by its Board of Trustees on the 5th day of February, A. D. 1927, filed in the court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, its certain application and petition for leave to incumber by mortgage in a sum not exceeding fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) the Real Estate described as follows:
Situated in the City of Marion, County of Marion and State of Ohio:
TRACT ONE: Being part of Lots numbers six (6) and seven (7) renumbered and now known as Lots numbers two hundred eighty-three (283) and two hundred eighty-four (284) respectively, in Henry Peters' Second Addition to Marion, Ohio, and beginning at the Northwest corner of a lot formerly owned by one John Uhl and for a time used by A. R. Hess Marble Shop and in the east line of Prospect formerly West Street in said City; thence northwardly on said East line of said Prospect Street fifty-eight (58) feet to a stake; thence eastwardly parallel with what was formerly said John Uhl's North line to the West line of an alley; thence southwardly on the West line of said alley to the northeast corner of what was formerly said John Uhl's said lot fifty-eight (58) feet; thence westwardly on the north line of said (formerly) Uhl's lot to the place of beginning;
Which said premises were conveyed by John C. Markert and wife to William Fischer et al., Trustees and their successors in office in trust for The First Reformed Congregation of Marion, Marion County, in regular connection with the Reformed Church in the United States of America which body is your petitioner said The First Reformed Church of Marion, Ohio, by deed dated May 10, 1883, recorded at page 580 in volume 56 Marion County, Ohio, Deed Records:
TRACT TWO: Situated in the City of Marion, County of Marion and State of Ohio:
Being part of Lots numbers six (6) and seven (7) renumbered 283 and 284 in Henry Peters' Second Addition to Marion, Ohio: Beginning at a point in the east line of Prospect Street one hundred seventy-seven (177) feet south of the North line of said Lot number 284 being the southwest corner of lot sold by J. C. Markert to Mary A. Urion by deed dated February 25, 1891, recorded in Vol. 69 at page 287 Marion County, Ohio, Deed Records; thence east along the south line of said Urion lots one hundred sixty-five (165) feet to the west line of an alley; thence south along said West line about seventy-four and five-tenths (74.5) feet to the north line of a lot sold by J. C. Markert to the Trustees of The First Reformed Church Congregation, dated May 10, 1883, recorded in Vol. 56 at page 580, Marion County, Ohio, Deed Records; thence west along the north line of said First Reformed Congregation lot about one hundred sixty-five (165) feet to the east line of said Prospect Street; thence north along said east line about seventy-five and five-tenths (75.5) feet to the place of beginning.
Which said premises were conveyed by Charles A. Markert, et al., to John D. Jones, et al., as Trustees of The First Reformed Church of Marion, Ohio, by deed dated July 16, 1923, recorded at page 539 in volume 169, Marion County, Ohio, Deed Records:
Said Tracts One and Two above described adjoin and are contiguous the one with the other, and are located on the East side of and front on South Prospect Street between Columbia Street and Hill Street in said City.
Said application and petition will be for hearing after March 12th, 1927.

CLOTURE TO AID CAUSE OF BANK BILL DEFENDERS

Insurgents Seemingly Face Certain Defeat Opposing McFadden-Pepper Measure

Washington, Feb. 14 — Somewhat paralleling the famous battle of Andrew Jackson against the United States Bank, senate insurgents today waged war against further extension of the Federal Banking System by opposing enactment of the McFadden-Pepper Banking Act.

Jackson drove the U. S. Bank out of existence, but the insurgent bloc faced almost certain defeat. A cloture petition, signed by 38 senators, lay on the desk of Vice President Dawes to be submitted to the senate at 1 o'clock tomorrow for a vote on the question of shutting off further debate. As supporters of the bill command more than enough votes to adopt cloture, a final vote enacting the bill will be taken by the senate sometime Wednesday. It then will go to the president.

The action of the banking leaders in actually invoking cloture for the third time in the present generation created considerable bad feeling. Opponents of the bill charged the measure was being "railroaded" through congress and that they were being steamrollered."

Provisions of Bill

The provisions of the bill, which will have a far-reaching influence upon American banks, are:

1. Granting an indeterminate charter to the Federal Reserve System and all its banks, thus substituting an "for all time" charter for the existing one, which expires in 1934.

2. Permitting national banks to engage in the investment business, by which they can use savings deposits—under certain conditions—to purchase real estate.

3. Allowing national banks to establish branch banks within the limits of the city in which the parent bank is located, if the state laws permit branch banking by state banks.

4. Allowing a state bank, which has branch banks "up-state" or outside the city in which the parent bank is located to bring all these branches into the federal system if the state bank becomes a national bank.

LOANS up to $500

Going to The City Loan for financial assistance is just like looking in the dictionary for the definition of a strange word—you're pretty sure to get what you go after. To lend money is our business, and we always manage to keep enough on hand to supply the needs of worthy folks. A reasonable need and your own security are the requirements to carry away with you not only the money, but the best advice and kindly assistance that's a part of every loan we make.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Tomatoes are scarce in local markets today. The shipped-in variety retains the old price of 25 cents a pound. Demand for the vegetable has shown a slight increase during the last few days but the supply at present is unable to satisfy the demand in every market of the city.

Head lettuce continues to enjoy popularity among Marion shoppers. The price has dropped to the lowest yet reached on local markets and finer heads today were selling at 10 cents. The same price prevailed Saturday.

Potatoes remain at 50 cents a peck while sweet potatoes are selling three and four pounds for 25 cents.

Figs of all varieties were in demand over the week-end, many local markets reported today.

Butter and egg prices remained unchanged over the week-end and creamery butter today was selling for 56 a pound. Fresh eggs continued to retail at 41 cents. Other grades were marked a few cents lower.

All fruit and vegetable counters in Marion early today had taken on a barren appearance after the usual Saturday afternoon and night rush of local housewomen.

SPECTACULAR GAINS ABSENT ON MARKET

Strong Tone Exhibited in Wide Range of Rails and Industrials

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks strong; industrials, firm; domestic bonds, inactive; foreign exchange, steady; call money, 4 per cent; grain steady; copper irregular; oil steady; cotton steady; rubber steady; sugar steady; pig iron reactionary; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Feb. 14—In the absence of spectacular price gains such as featured the trading in railroad shares last week, the stock market exhibited a strong tone today, with confident bidding upward of a wide range of industrial and railroad stocks.

Further advances in the dividend rates of prominent American industrial companies, like Dupont, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., and the favorable earnings reports of other companies near to dividends, stimulated good buying of the better grade of stocks in stocks in many of the important outside investment points. The commission houses reported an excellent demand for stocks from Chicago, Detroit and other of the interior financial centers, some of which apparently represented the activity of pools in Baldwin, Hudson Motors, etc.

Though call money was unchanged at 4 per cent, the banks reported a slight contraction in the available supply of speculative funds, due to larger demands from commercial channels. This is favorable development, since it signalizes the speeding up of business in many quarters which have heretofore been idle or only partially employed.

FARM BILL BACKERS READY TO TAKE VOTE

General Debate To Be Closed Late Today; Impressive Majority Sought

Washington, Feb. 14 — Claiming enough pledged votes in the house to insure passage of the $200,000,000 McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, farm bloc leaders today redoubled their effort to roll up an impressive majority in the hope of convincing President Coolidge that there is an overwhelming demand in the country for the measure.

Sitting solidly in the legislative saddle, pilots of the bitterly-fought bill expected to be in a position late today to bring a decisive test vote whenever they desire. General debate was scheduled to be brought to a close late in the afternoon.

The bill admittedly cannot hurdle an executive veto before the end of the sixty-ninth congress, despite the comfortable majority which farm bloc leaders revealed in the senate vote and claim in the house. There apparently is little demand among the farm bloc members for an extra session if the bill fails to become a law. They declare, however, that the fight will be renewed next December when the seventieth congress convenes.

Opponents of the measure continued to bank in their conviction that Mr. Coolidge will make short work of the bill through a veto. Backers of the bill likewise continued doggedly to cling to the hope of executive approval.

Modern Lighting Effects Eliminates Retouching Work in Photography, Claim

"Effective lighting comes first in the problems of the present day photographer," says W. W. Weber, of the Master Studio where hundreds of Marion persons go annually to "see themselves as others see them."

Where the average amateur photographer thinks only of daylight when using a camera, the professional photographer never thinks of daylight, unless to see that none of it is used. In practically every high class photograph studio today daylight is carefully excluded from the room, and nothing but artificial light is used. There are some weird contraptions, producing ghastly and unreal effects, in use today in photograph studios.

It is not long since every photograph studio had a big skylight over the room where the big portrait camera was used. Locations for photograph studios were carefully chosen, in the old days, for strong daylight was needed. Now a photograph studio could be located in a cellar if there was no other place available, for the advantage of daylight to the photographer is no longer an important point in picking his studio location.

Credit Picture Men

The motion picture men are almost solely responsible for the rapid changes in lighting methods used in photography today Mr. Weber says. The mushroom growth of the movies within a period of a few years, forced by a tremendous demand for films, started the first research into the possibilities of artificial lighting in photograph studios. Commercial and portrait photographers were quick to seize the discoveries of the movie camera men, and turn them into their own work. Now, Mr. Weber says, the studio photographers are almost abreast of the movie camera men in the novel and effective lighting effects they can produce.

New Equipment

At the Master Studio Mr. Weber has only recently installed a set of the Cooper-Hewitt mercury vapor lights, which are used for all indoor photography in the movies. The light from these peculiar lamps comes from a glass tube, about an inch in diameter and four or five feet long, filled with mercury vapor and through which an electric spark passes. The mercury vapor arises from a small mass of mercury in the base of the tube, which is heated by the electricity and throws off the vapor.

A bluish light, the action of which is the fastest of any light known in its action on a photograph plate, is thrown off from this sitting for the photograph. The lips become tinged with purple, the eyes become dark sockets and the skin takes on a sickly pallor.

The successful photographer today must be a student of lights, Mr. Weber says. Every person presents a different problem, and the lights used must be such as to bring out the best effect.

Play Queer Tricks

Photographers, with their new equipment, taken from the movies, can play queer tricks with lights, Mr. Weber says. They can make a face appear harsh or mild, weak or strong, by playing up or down. They can make a man's character stick out of his face like a portrait painted by a master, or they can make a photograph look like a conglomeration of misfit features.

Women require a greater blending of lights than men, Mr. Weber says. Lights must be softer for women than men. The lights must soften the features and present a smooth picture, without angles or sharp contrast. The high lights must bring out the beauty of the hair, the eyes or the lips, or whatever dominant feature the person has, without overdoing or exaggerating it.

Strength Feature

With men strength is the dominant feature, but this must not be brought up to a sternness or harshness. The clever photographer with lights can soften and round out sharp features and present a natural picture that yet presents the best characteristics of the person.

The use of many kinds of lights, blended and used with skill has made unnecessary a great deal of the retouching which photographers used to use to tone down or build up their pictures. Using daylight, photographers sometimes got incongruous effects, with difficult subjects, and were forced to touch the pictures considerable so that the too prominent nose on a woman, flapping ears on a man, or squint eyes in a child, did not stand out with too much prominence. These hours that photographers used to spend in retouching are now given over, to other duties, for the high-class photographers of today softens the lines of a lantern jaw, hides wrinkles or skin blotches or brings a large mouth down to the proportions of a delicate cupid's bow with the use of lights.

$1,000,000 BLAZE

Fifty Stores in Four Buildings Destroyed at Bangor, Me.

Bangor, Me., Feb. 14—State and city investigations were in progress today to determine the origin of a $1,000,000 fire which swept four buildings housing 50 stores in the retail district.

Company M of the militia was called out, firemen from this city, Brewer and Old Town together with police fought the flames, and special trains with firemen were being made up at Waterville, Augusta and Lewiston when the flames were brought under control.

The fire, which started at 9:45 o'clock last night, burned the area bounded by Columbia, Cross, Hammond and Maine-sts, and was attacking the roof and rear walls of city hall, when the flames were finally controlled at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

there was nothing so good for congestion and colds as mustard. But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered.

Musterole gives the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

REV. P. S. GRANT, MODERNIST, IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Funeral Rites Will Be Held in Bedford Village, N. Y., Tuesday

New York, Feb. 14—Churchmen throughout the country today mourned the death of Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, one of the leading modernists in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Reverend Grant died Sunday in the Northwestern Westchester Hospital at Mt. Kisco, N. Y., from complications following an operation for appendicitis.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in St. Matthew's Church, Bedford Village, N. Y., the body will be taken to Boston, where Reverend Grant was born 66 years ago, for burial in Forest Hill Cemetery.

Dr. Grant had a remarkable career. In 1893 he came to New York City as rector of the staid and orthodox Church of the Ascension, a constituency of wealth and culture, where his radical and unconventional ideas involved him in a series of controversies with Bishop Manning and other prominent churchmen.

Dr. Grant's engagement to Mrs. Rita De Acosta Lydig, a divorcee, together with his pleas for more liberal divorce laws, created a storm of controversy within the church.

In 1924 the engagement was broken and Dr. Grant resigned his rectorship. His health soon began to decline rapidly.

Dr. Grant repudiated the doctrine of the Virgin Birth, declaring that the church "would be better off without a creed." He also expressed doubts concerning the divinity of Christ.

Homes of Two Blind Men Hit by Fire in Few Days

Homes of two Marion blind men were swept by fire within a period of eight days, the first blaze occurred on Feb. 4 at the home of Richard Gamble, peanut and candy vender, 296 Breen-st, and the second at the rooming house of W. E. Harrison, broom-maker, 574 Thompson-st, Saturday afternoon.

Origin of the Harrison fire has not been determined. The blind man occupied the front room of the Thompson-st dwelling house and James Pine and family the other five rooms. The blaze started in Harrison's room and destroyed his furniture and also his extra clothing, leaving him only the clothes he was wearing, according to his statement to Fire Chief McFarland.

Harrison's loss was fully covered by a $300 insurance policy which he took out at a local agency on Feb. 3.

An unusual coincidence is the fact that the dwelling adjoined the Charles Jones' property, which was completely destroyed by fire about three weeks ago, leaving the Jones family destitute until local citizens contributed furniture to fit up another home and also donated a large quantity of clothing to Mr. and Mrs. Jones and their eight children.

Had Started Appeal

The public appeal for the Jones family, which resulted in a flood of donations from all parts of the city, resulted primarily from a movement started at the suggestion of Harrison.

No members of the Pine family were at home when the fire broke out and Harrison arrived shortly after the alarm was sounded. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, who called the fire department.

Harrison's room was completely gutted but firemen summoned from engine houses No. 1 and No. 2 prevented the flames from spreading to the Pine family's rooms. Smoke did considerable damage to these rooms, however.

Damage to the building, owned by Fred E. Guthery, is estimated at $200. This was covered by insurance.

The Breen-st home of Richard Gamble, blind peanut and candy vendor well-known in Marion's up-town district, was damaged to the extent of about $500 when an overheated stove ignited the building on Feb. 4.

Chapped or reddened skin quickly responds to the Resinol treatment. The purity and soothing qualities of Resinol Soap tend to prevent dryness—the most frequent cause of chapping. But where exposure to sun or wind has already roughened and burned the skin, the healing touch of Resinol Ointment relieves the tense, drawn feeling, stops the smarting and helps to restore skin health.

Many women have found it invaluable, also, for ridding the skin of pimples, blackheads, rashes, etc.
